GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.GENERAL DEPARTMENT.*Education Branch.

CALCUTTA, THE 8TH OCTOBER 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 1331Edn.

READ—

Letter No. 175, dated the 18th March 1918, from the Government of India, Department of Education, forwarding a revised set of rules relating to State Technical Scholarships.

In the year 1903 His Majesty's Secretary of State for India sanctioned, as a provisional measure, the institution of a certain number of technical scholarships tenable by Indians in Europe or America. The purpose of these scholarships was to provide for that higher technical education which might qualify them to assist in promoting existing Indian industries and developing new industries whenever this might be possible. It has been the practice for the Government of India to award scholarships of the value of £150 a year, tenable for two years and not exceeding 10 in number, of which one is ordinarily allotted to the Presidency of Bengal.

2. The existing procedure for nomination to these scholarships is as follows. The industries to be encouraged in any particular year are fixed by this Government in consultation with the representatives of mercantile and industrial firms and associations, preference being given to industries in which Indian capital and enterprise are engaged and which offer scope for the skill and ability of the scholars on their return to this country. After the industries have been selected, applications are invited by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, who submits his nominations to this Government. The Governor in Council then forwards his recommendations to the Government of India, who finally decide whether the scholarships should be awarded to the candidates nominated by this Government or not.

3. Under the revised rules promulgated by the Government of India, with their letter No. 175, dated the 18th March 1918, the number of scholarships tenable at one time has been raised to a maximum of 30, out of which 4 have been assigned to this Presidency. The scholarships will be of the value of £150 a year and will be tenable for not less than two years or more than five years. Before proceeding to Europe the scholars will be required to undergo a course of practical training of not less than one year, and after their return they will have a further training for one year in practical work. As regards the selection of industries, the principles hitherto followed will be observed. The rules also provide that a Board of Selection should be constituted in each province for the purpose of recommending candidates to the Local Government.

4. The Governor in Council is accordingly pleased to constitute a Board of Selection as follows :—

- (1) The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, Chairman.
- (2) The Director of Industries, Bengal.
- (3) The Principal, Civil Engineering College, Sibpur.
- (4) The Chairman of the Indian Engineering Association Committee of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.
- (5) (Mr. Nilmoni Choudhury of Messrs. Chondhuri & Co., Calcutta (representative of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce)).
- (6) Sir R. N. Mukerji, K.C.I.E.
- (7) The Chief Inspector of Factories, Bengal.
- (8) The Superintendent of Industries and Inspector of Technical Institutions, Bengal, Secretary.

The functions of the Board will be—

- (i) To select and recommend candidates to the Local Government for appointment as State technical scholars, in accordance with the rules laid down by the Government of India ;
- (ii) To submit to Government any suggestions that the Board may consider necessary regarding the course of training to be followed by the scholars in England or elsewhere ;
- (iii) To settle the nature of the preliminary training which the selected scholars shall undergo for one year before their departure, and of the practical training which they will receive after their return, when these are considered necessary ; and
- (iv) To endeavour, with the assistance of local manufacturers and employers, to find employment for the scholars on their return to India.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, that copies, with copies of the rules, be forwarded to the Chairman and members of the Board, and the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Attention of exporters is drawn to the fact that various articles marked B or C may, in view of the percentage of copper contained in them, be subject to the Copper Prohibition (List A) (See "Copper.")

Application must therefore be made to the War Trade Department for licenses to export goods which fall within the aforementioned copper prohibition on account of the quantity of copper contained therein. Such applications should always indicate clearly the actual quantity of copper and or copper alloys the goods contain.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 2211.—The following despatch from Lieutenant-General Sir W. R. Marshall, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., Commanding-in-Chief, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force, on the operations in Mesopotamia from October 1st, 1917, to March 31st, 1918, is published for general information.—

1. I assumed the command of this Force on the 18th November last on the death of the late lamented Lieutenant-General Sir Stanley Maude, and now have the honour to submit a report on the operations in Mesopotamia from October 1st, 1917 till 31st March of this year.

2. The last despatch of General Maude covered the period April 1st to September 30th, 1917, and concluded with the operations which resulted in the capture and occupation of Ramadi on the Euphrates. At the commencement of the period covered by the present despatch this force was opposed on the north-east by Turks, who were holding the hills known as Jebel Hamrin, while up the Tigris they were entrenched in front of Daur, and the left wing was secure at Ramadi.

3. At the beginning of October it was decided to clear the Turks from the left bank of the Diala, and occupy the Jebel Hamrin astride of that river, in order that the control of the canals might be in our hands. This operation was entrusted to the Corps then under my command. I decided as a preliminary operation to drive the Turks out of their forward positions on the right bank of the Diala, where they were holding a line near Deli Abbas, and after that to hold them in front whilst my main attack developed from the south-east against their left flank. These measures had the desired effect of dislodging the enemy from a very strong position with extraordinarily few casualties in my force but owing to the Diala being, at that time of year, fordable in innumerable places the bulk of the Turks evaded capture, destroyed their bridge at Kizil Robat and retreated to the right bank of the river. All our objectives were gained and a position astride the Diala gorge, protecting the head works of the canals, was seized and consolidated.

To ensure a perfect system of communication in the new forward area, considerable work was necessitated. The main canals, i.e., Khulis, Mansuriya, Khorassan, Mahmut, Harniya, and Ruz, as well as their numerous distributaries, were rapidly bridged often at more than one place and this mobile bridging equipment was subsequently replaced by more permanent structures capable of carrying heavy loads. 75 bridges of various sizes were built in this area alone, and the Jebel Hamrin, which, prior to our occupation, was a roadless tangle of hills, was gradually pierced by a very complete and convenient number of roads suitable for wheeled traffic. These roads have involved heavy work not only in digging but in rock cutting through the hills and in metalling over the sandy flats.

4. Whilst the operations referred to in paragraph 3 were in progress the 18th Turkish Army Corps on the Tigris undertook a counter demonstration against our troops on that line and in the middle of October advanced as far as El Huweslat, 8 miles north of Samarra, where they proceeded to entrench themselves. General Maude decided to attack before they had time to consolidate their position to any great extent, and on the 24th October after a night march our leading division on the Tigris front captured El Huweslat, which the Turks had evacuated in haste, and then pushed north to Daur supported by our cavalry. This position was captured on 2nd November by the 28th Infantry Brigade, who by pressing on with vigour caused the Turks to evacuate also their second line of trenches. The cavalry endeavoured to press round the western flank but were met with heavy artillery fire, under cover of which the Turks withdrew to Tekrit. Although by this time our infantry had already marched 30 miles in 24 hours, it was decided to push on to Tekrit and on 5th November the 8th Infantry Brigade assaulted the hostile position at that place, capturing the whole of their objectives and repelling two counter-attacks in force. The enemy suffered heavily and many prisoners were taken. Meantime the cavalry supported by the 19th Infantry Brigade had pushed round the flank, and in the afternoon a spirited attack by the infantry coupled with a charge by the Cavalry Brigade on the flank, threw back the Turks in disorder who fled panic stricken under cover of strong rearguard positions which had previously been prepared for some miles in rear and which held up our pursuit. During the following night the enemy withdrew the whole of their forces to Shoreimiya and burnt large quantities of ammunition and stores. Their losses were estimated at 2,000 including 300 killed, and considerable booty fell into our hands.

The Turkish position was found to consist of an intricate system of trenches many of which had been well and deeply dug with numerous machine gun emplacements, and its capture at a moderate cost redounds to the credit of all ranks.

The main portion of our troops were then ordered back to Samarra.

5. On the 19th November 1917 the army in Mesopotamia received the news of the death from cholera of our beloved and revered Chief Lieutenant-General Sir Stanley Maude, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. Needless to say it was a bitter blow to the whole force that he of all men should have been singled out by this fell disease, which was not in any way in epidemic form.

General Maude, whose genius had altered the whole face of affairs in Mesopotamia, was an almost irreparable loss; he had taken over an army whose moral had been severely tried by their failure to effect the relief of Kut, whose health had been sapped by very trying climate, and consequently he had a very difficult task to restore its fighting efficiency, but in a few months by his hard work and great gifts of organization, clear-sightedness, determination, and above all by his intense sympathy with and love of his soldiers, a very different state of affairs came into being. Strongly backed by the efforts of His Excellency the Viceroy and the Government of India and by the War Office he thoroughly reorganized the transport services, and the troops were well fed and made as comfortable as circumstances permitted though training and discipline were never relaxed. When he considered that all was perfectly ready, and not until then, he moved and from that time this force never looked back. When, therefore, I had the honour of being appointed as his successor the moral of the army was magnificent whilst organization and training had reached a high level of efficiency. The Turkish army on the contrary was low in moral and desertions from it were numerous and frequent; on the Tigris and Euphrates they had retreated out of rapid striking distance and only on our right flank was there a good opportunity of hitting them. Towards the end of November therefore I determined to attack that part of the 13th Turkish Army Corps which was holding the Diala river above Mansuriya, the passes over the Jebel Hamrin and Kara Tepe.

The Turkish forces were well placed for defence and the task set to our troops included the forcing of the passages of the Diala and Nahrin rivers, as well as the Sakaltutan and Abu Zenabil passes through the Jebel Hamrin.

The operations were entrusted to Lieutenant-General Sir R. Egerton, K.C.B., K.C.I.E., whilst an independent force of cavalry under Major-General L. C. Jones, C.M.G., M.V.O., was ordered to demonstrate up to Adhaim river and prevent strong reinforcements being brought down against our attacking force from the line Tuz Kermatli-Kirkuk.

The passage of the Diala was successfully forced by night but it was found that the Turks had flooded the whole of the low lying ground on the right bank about its confluence with the Nahrin river and this proved a serious obstacle. In spite however of the bad going the whole of the Turks position between Mirjana and the Nahrin river was occupied on the 3rd December, the Turks falling back northwards. During the same time the 38th Infantry Brigade advanced north-west along the Jebel Hamrin and drove the enemy towards the Sakaltutan pass and Nahrin river, while the 40th Infantry Brigade cleared Kishla Suhaniya capturing 44 prisoners and 2 field guns. During the night the Turks withdrew and we occupied the Sakaltutan pass, and devoted the following day to a forward concentration of troops and supplies, all of which had been delayed by the unavoidable difficulties of ground and weather.

On the 5th December a combined column pushed forward against Kara Tepe, but progress was slow and it was not till the midday of the 6th that an assault carried out by the 35th Infantry Brigade coupled with a flank attack by the 40th Infantry Brigade, captured the position. The majority of the Turks fled and the hilly nature of the ground coupled with the bad going saved them from heavy punishment. In their retreat through Kifri they set fire to their dumps of coal and the Kifri coal mine. Two hundred and forty-nine prisoners were taken and over 100 dead were buried by us. The features of the day's fighting were the determination and dash of the infantry, their close support by the artillery, and the valuable co-operation of the flying corps with both. During these operations our troops received valuable assistance from the Russian detachment under Lieutenant-Colonel Bichurakhov. On the 8th December the troops were withdrawn from the forward areas but the Sakaltutan and Abu Zenabil passes were held and a bridgehead established at Kizil Robot with a view to further action in the future. Our casualties were very small, in spite of the difficulties of terrain, and the operations reflected great credit on the commanders and staff concerned, as well as on the regimental officers and men.

On the 9th December Khanikin was occupied and the communications in that area improved.

6. On the Euphrates Ramadi had been captured in September and the months from October to December were occupied by the troops in that area in consolidating their forward positions and in establishing a sense of security amongst the surrounding tribes. Offensive measures were of a minor kind and consisted of raids against hostile shaikhs, some of whom were smuggling food to the Turks, of air raids, and of reconnaissances along both banks of the river and into the desert on either flank. Several bridges were thrown across the river Euphrates and the development of the forward area was taken in hand so as to relieve the strain on transport which had to bring supplies by road from Baghdad until the railway to Fehdja was completed on 21st December.

During December and January it was evident that the Turks were being reinforced, the bulk of their troops being near Hit, and as their strength grew, their patrols were pushed downstream as far as Uqbah and Nafata. I accordingly issued orders to Major-General Sir H. T. Brooking, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., commanding the troops on the Euphrates front, to capture Hit and its garrison as soon as his arrangements were completed and the state of the ground permitted. My opinion was that there would be no difficulty in capturing the town and driving the Turks out of their positions, but that the capture of the Turkish force would be a matter of extreme difficulty in consequence of their previous experience at Ramadi.

On 19th February troops were pushed forward to Uqbah which was found evacuated and it was ascertained that the Turkish main position was two miles above Hit behind a depression known as Broad Wadi, while about two-thirds of his troops were 15 miles further upstream at Salahiya. I did not wish to commit our troops to serious fighting unless I saw a chance of delivering a severe blow against the enemy, and accordingly touch was ordered to be maintained by constant patrolling and reconnaissances while forward communications were improved and supplies pushed up.

On March 8th it was discovered that the Turks had vacated their Broad Wadi position and were falling back on Salahiya. The troops were accordingly pushed forward and the Royal Flying Corps which co-operated by bombing and machine gun fire caused many casualties and much confusion amongst the retreating columns of the enemy and their transport. Hit was occupied on the 9th and Salahiya on the 10th, the Turks retreating to Khan Baghdadi.

I then issued orders to drive the enemy as far as possible from Hit and to inflict all possible damage on him. To assist in this object additional mobile troops including a cavalry brigade and light armoured motors were ordered to Hit with instructions to move by night and conceal themselves by day so that the enemy might think that no further advance by my troops was intended; in many other ways, efforts, apparently successful, were made to deceive the Turks as to our intentions.

On the 26th the plan of operations was to make an attack in strength against the enemy's left and to send the cavalry and armoured motor cars round his right flank. Preparations for this attack were nearing completion when it became evident that the enemy had already commenced to withdraw from their forward positions but intended to make a stand north-west of Khan Baghdadi. Arrangements for assaulting this position were accordingly made and under cover of an effective barrage it was carried out at 5-30 P.M. with slight loss.

Meantime the cavalry after a long and difficult march gained the Aleppo road where it crosses the Wadi Hanran shortly after 5 P.M., and cut off the enemy's retreat by road and river. About 11-30 P.M. the Turks launched a heavy attack in the hope of breaking through the centre of the cavalry but were completely repulsed and lost 1,000 prisoners.

By 5-30 A.M. next morning the infantry columns arrived and completed the defeat capturing a large number of prisoners, supplies and munitions of all kinds. An energetic pursuit by the cavalry and by a mobile column in motor cars was then carried out. Haditha was captured without serious resistance, the enemy having no time to destroy his ammunition dumps at that place, and in the evening Khan Feheme was reached. On the 28th Ana was captured and another large dump of ammunition was found in it. The pursuit by motor was continued for 73 miles along the Aleppo road, many prisoners were taken, the Turks in most cases surrendering freely, being worn out and demoralised by the rapidity of our pursuit. The total prisoners taken were the commander and staff of the 50th Turkish Division.

the commandant of Ana, 2 regimental commanders, 213 officers and 5,022 other ranks, inclusive of Germans. Twelve guns, 47 machine guns and great quantities of rifles, ammunition and stores were also captured. The amount of ammunition found at Ana, being too large to be brought away, was blown up and on 30th March the troops were gradually withdrawn down the Euphrates to previously arranged positions.

The complete success of this operation I attribute to the masterly way in which the force was handled by Major-General Sir H. T. Brooking and his very complete preparatory arrangements.

The endurance of the troops and their determination to get at the enemy was worthy of all praise, whilst the tactical ability of their commanders was of a very high order. The magnificent work done by the 11th Cavalry Brigade under Brigadier-General R. A. Cassels as well as by the light armoured motor batteries, both in cutting off the enemy's line of retreat as well as in the pursuit to and beyond Ana, was a notable feat. Best of all, our casualties were very slight.

7. With the advent of the New Year the weather which had been unexpectedly good in December became consistently wet. Continuous operations on any large scale were rendered out of the question, and the greatest strain was thrown on the lines of communication and supply formations.

On the north-east front a small column was sent at the beginning of January as far as Pai Tak at the foot of the Tak-i-Girra pass. It met with no opposition and on its return occupied Kasr-i-Shirin. Towards the end of the month the state of famine to which the Turks had reduced northern Persia made it incumbent on me to endeavour to open the main trade route via Kirmanshah in order to get supplies to the poor inhabitants of the towns and villages and provide them with an outlet for their home manufactures. With this object in view I increased the garrison of Kasr-i-Shirin and pushed small posts towards Kirmanshah. A large amount of tribal labour was also employed in improving the road which was in a lamentable state of disrepair. The continuance of wet weather up to the present date coupled with snow on the high ground east of the Tak-i-Girra pass has rendered the maintenance of troops along the road a matter of extreme difficulty.

8. In addition to the operations on the DIALA, TIGRIS, and EUPHRATES and the activities towards Kirmanshah to which I have referred, numerous minor operations have been carried out on all fronts. These consisted generally of reconnaissances by cavalry and light armoured motor cars and by bombing raids by the Royal Flying Corps. At the end of March manoeuvres under war conditions were carried out on a large scale near Tekrit but the Turks in that area withdrew northwards before the arrival of our troops.

9. In the time of my predecessor the Civil Commissioner, Sir Percy Cox, had strongly urged that the whole of the Euphrates line from Feludja to Nasiriyah should be brought under military and civil control, but at that time circumstances did not permit of any extension of our military responsibilities. By the middle of December 1917, however, the military position had completely changed owing to the magnificent successes gained by General Allenby in Palestine. I therefore considered that the time was ripe to establish a firm control of the line of the Euphrates and by that means encourage and assist in the development of the rich agricultural lands in that area. To that end I issued orders for troops to be despatched from Nasiriyah and Baghdad to garrison various villages, thus establishing through communication by river between Basra and Feludja and controlling the development of local resources throughout the lower Euphrates valley. The extension of military control over this area was also desirable in order that the shaikhs of important towns like Kerbela, Nedjef, Hilla and Diwaniya might be brought more closely into the sphere of British influence and that pro-Turk sympathisers might be expelled.

Care was taken not to establish troops in either of the religious cities of Kerbela and Nedjef, and they were quartered at a distance. The inhabitants of Nedjef are for the most part well disposed holy people but there is in addition a proportion of irreconcilables in the town. On 12th January some of these fired on the troops exercising near the town causing a few casualties. Not wishing to injure a town which is full of sacred memories for Mahomedans I decided to punish two of the leading shaikhs, who were known to be responsible for the offence, and to levy a heavy fine. The shaiyks however fled before they could be arrested and they became outlaws. The fine was paid. After this incident matters seemed to be going on satisfactorily when on 21st March to my great regret the political officer in Nedjef, Captain W. M. Marshall, was murdered. No reason was given for the act as the deceased officer was universally liked. I immediately ordered a blockade of the town until all those implicated in the murder were given up, and surrounded it by a cordon of military posts joined by barbed wire. While I am prepared to go to extreme measures if necessary, in order to exact reparation for so foul a deed, I feel confident that by blockade methods I shall cause all the delinquents to be surrendered. When these have been removed the further punishment of the town will be a matter for subsequent consideration.

Meantime the development of the Hilla area has proceeded apace. Many hundred tons of seed grain have been planted and to assist in bringing the harvest into Baghdad a branch line down to Hilla is being made which is expected to be open for traffic by the middle of May. I have every confidence that this scheme will prove beneficial and enable this force to be dependent largely on local produce.

10. The riverain tribes of the Euphrates had long been independent and though the capture of Feludja and Ramadi had produced a very marked effect upon them and checked any serious attempt of hostile action, nevertheless certain minor punitive operations had been necessitated. These took the form of despatching small columns of all arms assisted by river gunboats by means of which the towers of recalcitrant chiefs were demolished and the tribe in question punished. Five such expeditions were sent out from Nasiriyah between November and February and were uniformly successful. Though of a minor nature, nevertheless they taxed the powers of endurance of the troops employed.

11. A portion of this force is maintained along the Karun river primarily to protect the oilfields near Tembi, but also to maintain order in Abwaz, Shushtar and Dizful. In this work the troops have been markedly successful. A disturbance occurred at Shushtar on November 2nd during which the British Consulate was threatened, but it was quickly and easily suppressed, thanks to the energetic action of the officers in responsible positions and by the rapidity with which the troops employed performed a long and difficult march to the scene of action.

12. The maintenance of the line of communication defences along both the Tigris and Euphrates has been carried out with marked efficiency. Though the work has at times been arduous and often more monotonous than that of troops employed in forward areas, the inability of enemy agents to cause even the slightest damage or delay on the lines of communication redounds to the vigilance and credit of all concerned.

On the Tigris the only trouble caused has been due to losses by theft from trains and boats specially between Kurnah and Amarah. This district is inhabited by marsh Arabs who in their native swamps are afforded complete immunity against attack by land, as they retreat rapidly into their boats leaving nothing of value behind.

The tribes between Basrah and Nasiriyah have been absolutely quiet and have made no hostile movement.

I have nothing but praise for the patrols, railway guards and escorts whose work has brought out qualities of self-reliance and devotion to duty.

The defences at Fao have been consolidated and improved, and the examination service of ships entering the Shatt-el-Arab has been effective. During the six months under review 581 vessels other than British and 8,466 native craft have been examined.

13. I desire to bring to favourable notice the names of my two Corps Commanders, Lieutenant-General Sir R. G. Egerton, K.C.B., K.C.I.E., and Major-General (temporary Lieutenant-General) Sir A. S. Cobbe, V.C., K.C.B., C.S.I., D.S.O., who have rendered me every assistance and have commanded their respective corps with ability.

My thanks are also due to the commanders of higher formations and staffs for their loyalty and untiring work, and to the gallantry, endurance and devotion to duty displayed by regimental officers, non-commissioned officers and men of all arms throughout the period under review.

Throughout the whole period covered by this despatch the work of the Royal Flying Corps has been as usual perfectly admirable and enemy machines, which endeavoured at one time to carry out raids on our camps and communications, were either driven off or brought down. Many reprisals were also carried out on the enemy aerodromes and camps both by day and night. During all operations the Royal Flying Corps have co-operated with other arms, cavalry, artillery and infantry, in the closest and most effectual way, whilst the pursuit of the retreating enemy columns has been harassed by our machines in the boldest manner both by bombing and machine gun fire.

14. The extension of the lines of communication to the north-east and north-west coupled with the opening up of the lower Euphrates has thrown an ever-increasing responsibility on Major-General Sir George MacMunn, K.C.B., C.S.I., D.S.O., Inspector-General of Communications, and I concur wholeheartedly in the opinion of his ability which was held by my distinguished predecessor.

One of the principal features of the lines of communications has been the rapid development of the port of Basrah by the completion of the dockyard and of the first set of wharves earlier planned, as well as the continuance of the arrangements for improving the working of ocean shipping. A large island at Magill has been raised by dredging to take ocean ships on one side and to load river steamers on the other. The auxiliary annexe of Nahr Unr has also given very great assistance with little outlay of material. All this work reflects great credit on the construction branch of the Port Administration and Conservancy.

The period covered by this despatch contains the worst months of low water when every day was a constant anxiety with regard to river navigation, and the river was kept open only by the most unremitting care of the buoying establishment. The river-borne tonnage has steadily improved, and the organisation of the Inland Water Transport has shown a very high state of efficiency.

Considerable progress has also been shown in the development of the railways in all sections of the lines of communication, and in the improvements of the river ports of Amarah and Kut-el-Amarah.

15. The high standard of efficiency displayed by all ranks of the Medical Service has been most gratifying to me, and reflects great credit on Surgeon-General A. P. Blenkinsop, C.B., C.M.G., my Director of Medical Services. The health of the troops has shown marked improvement as compared with the corresponding months of 1916-17. The sanitary organization and administration has steadily progressed and the standard of comfort and efficiency of the hospitals is most satisfactory.

The nursing sisters have as always devoted themselves with untiring care and zeal to the welfare of the sick and wounded. Through the generosity and kindness of Her Excellency Lady Willingdon clubs and convalescent homes for these devoted ladies are being established at suitable centres.

I also wish to take this opportunity of recording my gratitude and that of all ranks under my command for the valuable help afforded by the Red Cross Society which has resulted in the increased comfort of the troops.

16. I was lucky to receive a visit, early in March, from Lieutenant-General Sir E. Altham, K.C.B., C.M.G., Quartermaster-General in India, and Sir Thomas Holland, K.C.I.E., Head of the Munitions Board, who were thus able to see for themselves the wants of the country and the results of the efforts made by India to supply our needs.

The work thrown on the administrative services and departments, most of which is primarily due to the long line of communications, has been consistently heavy. In spite of distances traversed over a roadless country and of interruptions by floods supplies to the fighting troops have been maintained with the utmost precision. In transport a salient feature has been the welcome arrival of extra mechanical transport companies which increased the radius of action of the troops in the large areas over which they had to operate. The maintenance of these companies reflects great credit on the mechanical transport branch of the Army Service Corps.

Similarly, the mule columns and animal-drawn transport have shown a high standard of efficiency. In this connection I would specially mention the assistance rendered by the corps raised by Indian Princes, viz., Jaipur, Bharatpur, Gwalior and Mysore Imperial Service transport.

The Ordnance Services have been conducted and developed with energy and efficiency with a view to making the force as self-supporting as possible and to the consequent saving of sea transport. To this end boot-repairing shops, disinfecting and repair stations and other workshops have been established or extended.

The duties of the Works Department in providing protection for the communications to Baghdad and Baghdad itself against floods have proved long and arduous and show good progress. It is not perhaps realised that in this undeveloped country the only local produce are mud bricks, reeds for making mats, lime and bitumen in small quantities, and gravel in isolated localities. Every other requirement from a constructional point of view has to be imported. The supply of good drinking water has been well maintained. Automatic suction chlorination is now in general use and mechanical filtration plants have been or are being erected at all important posts.

The conduct and administration of the Remount Department is most satisfactory and I consider that the remount depot and attached farm at Baghdad are models of their kind.

Owing to the increased area over which this force operates, to the amount of animal diseases existing in the territories conquered and to the consequent danger of the animals of the force becoming infected it has been found necessary to increase the veterinary administrative staff and to form extra veterinary hospitals. The results are most gratifying and reflect great credit on this Department.

The Irrigation Department, as such, has been recently constituted though irrigation work was carried out previously, chiefly on the Euphrates. The work done can only be described as extraordinary and I look forward to a great development in this direction next year. The excellent results already achieved are due to the untiring zeal and energy of all ranks in a country where until recently there was no military control.

The period has been one of constant construction work and of steadily increasing demands on the Railway Department. Floods have caused several interruptions, but the service of trains has been maintained with great success in face of difficulties inherent to lines rapidly constructed in a new country where all material has had to be brought from overseas.

The Department of Local Resources has in addition to its former duties taken over the control of grass farms, the feeding of a civil population, and the arrangements for the collection and transportation of the coming harvest. Tanneries and a poultry farm primarily to supply hospitals, are being formed. The blockade system has been carefully regulated and ample evidence is available of severe shortage of supplies among the Turkish troops resulting in increased desertions and loss of moral. The department has been conducted with considerable ability.

Agriculture has made great progress and my especial thanks are due to Mr. C. C. Garbett, I.C.S., first revenue officer for the initiative displayed and the valuable work done by him in this connection. The latest estimate for the coming harvest is most gratifying. I hope by the institution of a properly constituted Department of Agriculture and by its co-ordination with the Irrigation Department that a very large increase will be shown next year in the agricultural development of this country.

The Postal Services have had to compete with the ever increasing wants of this Force and the Department has worked satisfactorily.

17. The chaplains of all denominations have continued to devote themselves to the spiritual welfare of the troops and have carried out their duties to my entire satisfaction. I am indebted also to the Church Army for the provision of tents for social and religious purposes which have not only afforded opportunities for recreation to the troops but have assisted the chaplains in their work.

The activities of the Young Men's Christian Association have extended considerably during the last six months. There are now a total of 70 centres and the system of soldiers' clubs has been initiated throughout the country: I greatly appreciate the excellent work of this society in undertaking the management of these recreational centres which tend so largely to the well-being of the troops.

Considerable advance has been made in graves registration and the special difficulties inherent to this country have been satisfactorily overcome.

To all those ladies and gentlemen who have so generously worked for, and contributed to the comfort of the troops by the provision of war gifts, hospital ships and launches, and in numberless other ways I can only, on behalf of this force, tender our very grateful thanks and assure them that their kindness will never be forgotten.

18. The Directorate of Signals and Telegraphs has had to deal with ever increasing communications, and to improve those already existing in connection with the extension of the area occupied and of the railway system, and with the development of the country. In addition the telephone system have been enlarged and extended, and the work done by the wireless squadrons has been of a high order. The efficiency of this directorate has been well maintained.

The work performed by the Surveys has assumed very large proportions, but my demands have always been met in the most satisfactory manner, and the Map Compilation Section has been of the greatest assistance.

19. In the work of the civil and political branch of this force I have been most ably advised by the Civil Commissioner, Sir Percy Cox, G.C.I.E., K.C.S.I., to whom I am greatly indebted. The military developments on both flanks have involved a corresponding extension of our political responsibilities. The functions of the civil administration consist in the extension of political control, the exercise of influence on agricultural shaikhs and tribes, the levy of revenue in kind, and not least the work connected with Central Arabian politics and the local Arab tribes.

The administration of the Basrah Vilayet continues to run smoothly on what are practically peace lines and satisfactory progress is noticeable in all branches.

20. The Royal Navy has ever been anxious to give me every assistance when called upon, and I am grateful to Rear-Admiral D. St. A. Wake, C.B., C.I.E., and the officers and ratings under his command for their ready co-operation.

21. Lastly, I desire to record my most sincere thanks to my staff and technical advisers who have so ably and loyally carried out my wishes.

Major-General W. Gillman, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., my Chief of the General Staff, has rendered me most loyal and invaluable assistance, whilst during his absence on an important mission his place was ably filled by Brigadier-General T. Fraser, C.B., C.M.G., to whose capable work I owe much both during that period and on previous occasions.

Major-General the Hon'ble A. R. M. Stuart-Wortley, C.B., D.S.O., my Deputy Quarter-master-General, has had an ever increasing load of work and responsibilities placed on his shoulders owing to the various new directorates which have come into being within the past six months, but his energy and ability have overcome all initial difficulties.

Major-General F. F. Ready, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., my Deputy Adjutant-General, has been a tower of strength to me and I owe much to his painstaking work and sound advice.

The entire absence of friction or discord which has characterized the work of all branches of the staff has been a source of great gratification to me and I feel sure to the entire force.

22. As a proof of the gallantry and devotion to duty displayed by regimental officers and men during the period covered by this despatch I have, under the powers delegated to me as Commander-in-Chief, made the following immediate awards for service in the field:—Distinguished Service Order, 15; Military Cross, 109; Distinguished Conduct Medal, 33; Military Medal, 67; Indian Order of Merit, 30; Indian Distinguished Conduct Medal, 104.

Note.—A list giving the names of those officers, ladies warrant and non-commissioned officers and men whose services are deemed to be deserving of reward and special mention will be published later.

NOTICE AS TO PRODUCTION OF NUMBERS OF IMPORT LICENSE.

NEW TRADE BOARD RULE.

MUST BE OBTAINED ON ALL COMMODITIES BEFORE THEY LEAVE FOREIGN PORTS.

Expected the order will avoid uncertainty on form of procedure.

The War Trade Board issues the following :—

The War Trade Board, through its Bureau of Imports, has issued a ruling to United States consular agents throughout the world, that on and after 27th May 1918, no consular invoices for any commodity are to be consulated unless the shipper furnishes the Consul the number of the United States import license covering the shipment. The only exception to this rule is the case of shipments covered by general import licenses.

Extends present regulations.

Already it is necessary for importers to communicate to their shippers abroad the number of the United States import license for articles on the restricted lists before consular invoice can be obtained and shipments started from abroad. The present ruling extends this regulation to all articles, both restricted and unrestricted, except such as are covered by general import licenses. This means that import licenses must be obtained for the importation of all commodities before they leave foreign ports. It is believed that this will avoid much uncertainty in the minds of both importers here and consular agents abroad as to what import license numbers must be communicated abroad. It will also give the War Trade Board an opportunity of passing upon all importations from a standpoint of enemy trade connection before shipments are put in transit.

Prompt action on applications.

The Bureau of Imports will pass promptly on all applications for import licenses, so that, if the license is granted, the importer may be informed immediately of his license number and send it by mail or cable to his shipper abroad.

As intimated above, certain classes of importations are permitted to enter under general import licenses; and where these licenses exist it is unnecessary for importers to apply for individual import licenses. These general licenses are designated as "PBF Licenses." The principal ones now in effect are the following:—

"PBF-1."—Covering the importation of all commodities not on the restricted lists, where the value does not exceed one hundred (100) dollars.

"PBF-2."—Covering all importations into Alaska, Canal Zone, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Guam, Totuila, Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, when they are for consumption in those countries and not for transshipment.

"PBF-3."—Covering the importation of all commodities from Canada and Newfoundland, except those mentioned in the President's import proclamation of November 28, 1917. Where such commodities are on the restricted lists, this general license covers them only when shipped by rail or lake, and when they originate in Canada or Newfoundland or in a country from which they would be licensed for importation directly.

"PBF-4."—Covering the importation of fresh fruits and fresh vegetables, when transported overland from Mexico, or overland or by great lakes from Canada, or by rail from Cuba.

"PBF-5."—Covering the importation of goods previously exported from the United States, when the value thereof does not exceed five hundred (500) dollars.

"PBF-6."—Covering the importation of personal baggage accompanying a passenger when containing only articles necessary for personal use on journey.

"PBF-7."—Covering the importation of fresh vegetables from Bermuda when shipped on vessels approved by the War Trade Board.

"PBF-8."—Covering the importation of fresh fruit and vegetables from Cuba when shipped on vessels approved by the War Trade Board.

"PBF-9."—Covering importations of all empty drums, cylinders and containers, American owned, which have been used in the exportation of commodities from the United States.

"PBF-10."—Covering the importation of tobacco from Cuba and the West Indies.

"PBF-11."—Covering the importation of cotton from Mexico.

Consuls Abroad Informed.

Consuls abroad have been informed of the existence of these general import licenses, and they will certify consular invoices for shipments coming under them without requiring the number of the individual import license.

Notice No. W.T.B.R.-114, dated the 17th May 1918, regarding Revocation of small shipment Import license.

The General License heretofore issued covering the importation of all commodities under dollars 100 value is hereby revoked as to all articles on Restricted Lists or any Supplements thereto, as to shipments made after 10th May 1918. The General License covering the importation of all commodities under dollars 100 value is still effective as to the importation of commodities not on Restricted Lists or any Supplements thereto.

The following books are recommended as indicating the methods of study as well as the standard of knowledge required :—

E. Marsden ...	Geography for Senior classes. Parts I and II.
The World with fuller treatment of India (Jongman's Geographical Series for India, Book II).
J. F. Unstead ...	The Practical Geography, Parts I and II.

The following books are recommended for the use of teachers :—

Blanford	...	The Rudiments of Physical Geography for the use of Indian Schools.
Frew	...	A Regional Geography of the Indian Empire. (Blackie & Son.)
Wallis	...	The Teaching of Geography. (Cambridge University Press.)
O'Malley	...	Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Sikkim. (Macmillan & Co.)

The following book is recommended for the use of teachers in connection with the teaching of "Sand Modelling" in the lower classes of schools :—

A. E. Frye	...	The Child and Nature.
------------	-----	-----------------------

Every school that intends to undertake instruction in Geography for the Matriculation Examination is required to possess the apparatus mentioned in the following list :—

I.—The total cost need not exceed Rs. 65—

1. A measuring tape.
2. A magnetic compass.
3. Squared paper and tracing paper.
4. Clay, dry sand, paper pulp for modelling.
5. A globe, not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface, and with line of latitude and longitude, and outlines, only of the landmasses, marked upon it.
6. A map of the school locality on a scale of 4" or 6"=1 mile.
7. A map of the district in which the school is situated on the scale 1"=mile.
8. A coloured map of the Province.
9. A coloured political map of India.
10. A physical map of India.
11. A relief map of India.
12. A map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection and a map of Asia.

It is essential that the students should be provided with atlases, or with the necessary hand-maps, and with a drawing instrument box. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail, or be crowded with names.

II.—The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided, but that lack of it is not to be considered as a bar to the recognition of the school in Geography :—

1. A thermometer.
2. A mercury barometer.
3. A rain-gauge.
4. A small collection of typical rocks, in particular those of the Province and of India.
5. A small museum of typical products.
6. A good standard atlas.
7. Geographical pictures.
8. Magic lantern and slides.

The attention of teachers is requested to the raised maps of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam made of paper pulp, prepared by Babu Kailas-chandra Datta, Head Pandit, Habiganj Government Girls' School, Sylhet, and sold for Rs. 7 and Rs. 5, respectively.

(2) Globes of all kinds are made by George Philip and Son, London, W. and A. K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston, London.

Small hand globes of German make can be obtained through the Indian School Supply Depot for about a rupee each.

(3) The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Philip and Son is good and up to date; so also are the Orographical wall maps published by Edward Stanford. Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which includes maps of India illustrating various distributions.

Messrs. Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B. Chatterjee publishes District Maps; also ordinary and relief maps of the Province.

Babu L. M. Basu, the drawing master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Lablache French wall maps on strong cardboard, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armond Colin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs. 4-14 each.

(4) The hand maps, coloured to indicate relief, published by the Diagram Company, West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half-penny maps showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company, are excellent for class use.

The Autograph hand maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Edward Stanford, London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15 inches map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection is specially to be commended.

(5) Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Messrs. Hachette of Paris, and Messrs. Hölzel of Vienna, and Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co. They cost, delivered in India, from two to three rupees each.

Map lantern slides and view slides especially prepared for Geography teaching are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each. Mr. Bartington Smith of Darjeeling also sells good picture slides of the Himalayas at Rs. 15 per dozen.

ELEMENTARY MECHANICS.

The following books are recommended:—

Sir Philip Magnus	...	Elementary Mechanics (Longmans, 1903).
A. N. Sen	...	Elementary Mechanics.

The following list of apparatus is prescribed as indicating the approximate requirements of a recognized High School seeking to teach Elementary Mechanics for the Matriculation Examination:—

Plumb-line and Level.
 Simple Lever (including brass slotted weights).
 Roman Steelyard.
 Lecture apparatus for experiments on moments.
 George's New Atwood's Machine.
 Stop-watch.
 Glazebrook's apparatus (to demonstrate movement of a body).
 Hick's Ballistic Balance.
 Compound Wheel and Axle.
 4 Single Brass Pulleys.
 2 " " "
 2 Triple " "
 Weston Differential Pulley Blocks ($\frac{1}{2}$ ton).
 16 feet of chain at 6d. per foot.
 Inclined Plane.
 Parallelogram of Forces apparatus.
 Wall Crane.
 Becker's New Physical Balance.
 Set of Gramme Weights (200 grams to 1 mgr.).
 2 Composition-ivory Balls.

NOTE.—The above list is not exhaustive, and much of it might be replaced by simpler forms that could probably be made far more cheaply by any clever mistry under proper supervision. In most cases, however, it will probably be found advantageous to buy such a set as indicated in the list specially for demonstration purposes, and subsequently to develop simplified duplicates, illustrating the same principles, which the boys should be given opportunity actually to experiment with on their own individual account or working in pairs.

Notice.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the Fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premium paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The Fund is now of ten years' standing and has a balance of over three and-a-half lakhs with Government on four per cent. interest. For forms of applications and rules of the Fund apply to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

Bills introduced in the Indian Legislative Council, Reports of Select Committees, presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Indian Legislative Council on the 11th September 1918 :—

No. 21 OF 1918.

A Bill further to amend the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Land Acquisition Act, 1894; It is hereby enacted

as follows :—

Short title.
(Amendment) Act, 191

Substitution of new section for section 54,
Act I, 1894.

1. This Act may be called the Land Acquisition (Amendment) Act, 1918.
2. For section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, the following section shall be substituted, namely :—

“ 54. Subject to the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, applicable to appeals, an appeal shall lie in any proceedings under this Act to the High Court from the award or from any part of the award of the Court of first instance or of appeal, and to His Majesty in Council from that of the High Court.”

I of 18

Vol 190

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is two-fold :—

Firstly, to secure the right of appeal to the High Court whatever the amount of claim or compensation may be. The amendment is necessitated because the High Court of Bombay has held that, where a claim under Rs. 5,000 in value has been decided by a Court of first instance, an appeal lies to the District Court, in virtue of section 16 of the Bombay Civil Courts Act, 1869 (XIV of 1869), and the right of appeal given by section 54 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (I of 1894), is thus exhausted, and no further appeal lies to the High Court. See Nathubhai vs. Manodass, 14 Bombay Law Reporter, 325, and Ahmedbhoy vs. Waman, 16 Bombay Law Reporter, 72).

Secondly, to secure the right of appeal to His Majesty in Council. An appeal to His Majesty in Council was allowed in land acquisition proceedings as a matter of course, subject to the provisions of sections 109 and 110 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 (Act V of 1908). But the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council held in Rangoon Bataising Co., Limited, vs. The Collector of Rangoon (L. R. 39 Indian Appeals, 1917) that in proceedings under the Land Acquisition Act no appeal lay to the Privy Council from the award of the Chief Court of Lower Burma inasmuch as section 54 gave only a special and limited right of appeal to the High Court from the award of the Court, and therefore no further appeal lay to His Majesty in Council. In the light of this pronouncement the High Court of Bombay has also recently held that no appeal lies to His Majesty in Council from its decision under the Land Acquisition Act (The Special Officer, Saisette Building Sites vs. Dossabhai, 14 Bombay Law Reporter, 1194). The proposed amendment is intended to give in express terms a right of appeal to His Majesty in Council—a right which was not doubted and which was often availed of till the decision in the Rangoon case.

Orders and Notifloatons by the Government of India.

The following resolution, issued by the Government of India in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, dated the 12th October 1918, is republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 996, dated Simla, the 11th October 1918.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture (Agriculture).

THE Government of India have decided to discontinue further purchases of wheat for export overseas other than (1) wheat which is absolutely necessary on military and Government account and (2) supplies to Mesopotamia; and they have under consideration the question of reducing these commitments. The Government of India further propose to exercise closer control over the export of all other kinds of food grains. These decisions, which have been taken in order to conserve for use in the deficit provinces in India such supplies of wheat and other foodstuffs as are not immediately required for local consumption in those provinces which have a surplus, are now to be supplemented by further measures designed to secure the most effective distribution to deficit provinces of the supplies of wheat, rice and subsequently of other foodstuffs, which are not required for local consumption in the surplus provinces. For this purpose the Government of India propose to set up a single executive authority, working directly under them, to be designated the Foodstuffs Commissioner. When the Government of India have, after consultation with the various Provincial Governments, decided what quantities of foodstuffs are available for transfer from time to time from surplus to deficit provinces, and the maximum prices at which such foodstuffs should be purchased, the Foodstuffs Commissioner will arrange, through the agency of selected commercial firms, for the purchase of the foodstuffs in question in their despatch to the destinations and consignees indicated by the Directors of Civil Supplies in the deficit provinces.

2. Initially the operations of the Foodstuffs Commissioner will be directed to the question of supplies of wheat and rice, in respect of which there are already in full working order the two agencies represented by the Wheat Commissioner, whose headquarters are in Karachi, and the Rice Commissioner in Burma. These two agencies will continue to work, generally speaking, on their present lines as regards purchases of wheat and rice, and will, in addition, exercise such other functions as may be allotted to them by the Foodstuffs Commissioner to whom they will in future be subordinate.

3. It will be a primary condition of supplies to dealers in deficit provinces that they should be licensed by the Director of Civil Supplies, or other local authority, and that the grant and continuance of such licenses shall be conditional on the holder selling within such prices as the Local Government may fix, with due regard to the prices previously fixed for purchases by the Foodstuffs Commissioner. It will also be within the discretion of Local Governments, if they think this necessary, to arrange for the opening of Government and municipal depôts or shops for the sale of foodstuffs at fixed prices.

4. Under this scheme it is contemplated that licenses for the export of wheat and rice, and subsequently of other foodstuffs shall not be granted by the Director of Civil Supplies of any surplus province save in respect of purchases made through the Foodstuffs Commissioners; nor shall the Director of Civil Supplies in any deficit province issue licenses for import in respect of articles under the control of the Foodstuffs Commissioner to a larger aggregate amount than the total quantity of such articles allotted by the Government of India for import into such province.

5. The essence of this scheme is inter-provincial allotment, the fixing and control of the quantities to be supplied by surplus to deficit provinces, the control within each province of arrangements for distribution and sale and the appointment of a Foodstuffs Commissioner as an essential link between Local Governments and the Government of India and as the authority to arrange for the purchase and despatch of foodstuffs from one province to another.

6. The Foodstuffs Commissioner will enter on his functions at the beginning of November, and the Governor-General in Council has selected for this post Mr. M. M. S. Gubbay, C.S.I., C.I.E., by reason of his financial experience and ability, and his successful management of the somewhat analogous Wheat Scheme of 1915-16. Pending the assumption of his duties by Mr. Gubbay, steps are being taken to give such immediate effect as is possible to the scheme formulated in this Resolution.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations; to the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India; to the several Departments of the Government of India; to the Wheat Commissioner for India; to the Rice Commissioner in Burma; to the Secretary to the Central Transport and Foodstuffs Board; to the Secretary to the Communications Board; to the Publicity Board; to the Controller of Traffic; and to Mr. M. M. S. Gubbay, C.S.I., C.I.E., I.C.S.

ORDERED also that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information.

J. MACKENNA,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following notification, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 19th October 1918, is republished for general information.

DARJEELING, THE 25TH SEPTEMBER 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 3318P.—D.

RECENT disturbances in Calcutta having caused a lamentable loss of life, much sorrow and suffering, considerable dislocation of business and damage to property, it is desirable to make public an authoritative statement of the circumstances in which the peace of the city came to be so seriously broken.

2. For some time past, that section of the Muhammadan community of Calcutta which manifests an interest in public affairs has been agitated by events which have taken place outside the province, particularly the course of the war and its effects on their co-religionist in Turkey and Asia. Their feelings have been worked upon by a little coterie of foreign journalists whose rhetorical and ambiguous writings added to the general state of unrest. The mass of the Muhammadan population was deeply stirred by the disturbances which took place in Bihar last autumn, and latterly they have suffered, like the rest of the community, from the high prices of cotton cloth and other commodities, together with the other hardships and inconveniences incidental to the prolongation of the war. Of the difficulties which attend the position of Muhammadans in recent times Government are fully conscious, and it is to the credit of the community that, as a whole, its attitude has been sober and self-restrained, but latterly unruly elements have come to the fore, and it is inevitable that upon these stress should be laid in connection with the unfortunate results which they have been instrumental in bringing about.

3. Such was the situation as it existed in Calcutta at the end of July, when an unwisely worded article appeared in a local newspaper relating to the presence of certain African Muhammadans in Paris. The article, which was originally published in England, was reproduced in good faith and without intention of wounding Muhammadan susceptibilities, but it is unfortunate that the risk of misunderstanding was not foreseen. On two occasions the management of the paper in question have since expressed regret, while the local Government have accepted as bonâ fide their disclaimer of any wish gratuitously to insult any section of the community. However, mischief had by then been done; the article was misinterpreted, and a mistranslation of a certain expression, which appeared in some vernacular newspapers, gave rise to the impression among many Muhammadans who had never seen the original article or the subsequent explanations and disclaimers, that a deliberate insult to the tomb of the Prophet was intended. During the month of August, various meetings of protest were held in Calcutta, at which the language used was violent and inflammatory, and more than one speaker called upon the Muhammadans to rise and avenge this insult to their faith.

4. Towards the end of August, wide circulation was given in Calcutta to an Urdu leaflet calling upon Muhammadans in highly provocative language to attend a mass meeting for the protection of Islam to be held on the 8th, 9th and 10th September. Reference was made therein to religious insults, and it was urged that it was necessary to take steps to prevent unholy attacks and accursed occurrences. It was stated that the meeting would be attended by a number of Ulamas, Maulvis and spiritual leaders from all parts of India. The risks of such proceedings, especially at the time suggested, which was shortly to be followed by great Hindu and Muhammadan festivals at which religious fervour runs high, were promptly represented to the local Government, who forthwith placed themselves in touch with leading Muhammadans, representative of all classes and interests in Calcutta, including the promoters of the meeting. After a frank discussion of the situation with those attending a conference on the 3rd September, the Governor in Council could come to no other conclusion (which was indeed shared by various gentlemen present) that the primary object of the assembly was the discussion of subjects of a highly contentious religious character, and that the harangues likely to be delivered in that connection were certain to lead to a grave breach of the peace. The promoters of the meeting were accordingly asked amicably to abandon it, but, after taking time for consideration, they intimated their inability to accede to the advice of Government which had been tendered in an entirely friendly spirit. Meanwhile, a second leaflet had been circulated regarding the meeting, couched in even more inflammatory terms than the original notice. Provocative references were introduced to the Shahabad riots and to three alleged school incidents, with two of which this province had no concern, the whole being cited to exhibit the degradation of Islam which it was necessary to force upon the attention of Government. It was distinctly stated that the meeting was being called for the purpose of considering proposals for the protection of Islam from the improper attacks of their enemies and of showing the Government that the waters had risen too high and that the cup of patience was already full; the point is emphasized because it has since been represented in some quarters that little more was contemplated than a sober discussion on less contentious political subjects. No doubt was possible as to the results of a meeting held in these circumstances, and the only course open to Government was to instruct the Commissioner of Police to use his legal powers under the Calcutta Police Act to prevent the meeting from being held. The Maulanas and others, who had come to Calcutta from other parts of India to attend the meeting, were at the same time directed to return to their homes, but before they did so, His Excellency the Governor personally saw a few of the more influential of these gentlemen and explained the situation, with the result that they endeavoured to induce the reception committee to abandon the gathering.

5. So far as is known, the latter body never formally accepted this advice, and at least one of their number at a meeting held on the night of the 7th September called upon the Muhammadans of Calcutta to attend the meeting in spite of the prohibition and to allow themselves to be shot down by the police. No disturbance, however, occurred on the 8th September, which was the date fixed for the meeting, though on that day an erroneous impression seems to have spread abroad that matters had been misrepresented to His Excellency the Governor, and that the decision to prohibit the meeting was likely to be reconsidered. Accordingly on the morning of the 9th September a large crowd assembled at the Nakhoda mosque in Zakaria Street on the excuse that they had come to hear the decision of Government regarding the meeting. His Excellency the Governor was at the same time separately approached by certain Muhammadan gentlemen and asked to receive a deputation to discuss the situation, which he agreed to do, on the understanding that the decision of Government that the meeting could not be allowed was final and that the deputation would be fully representative of all Muhammadan views. The deputation arrived at Government House at 2 p.m. Two gentlemen selected by the promoters of the meeting asked for a reconsideration of the orders, but His Excellency intimated that the decision of Government was final, and strongly advised the deputation to use their influence to induce the crowd to return peacefully to their homes.

6. Meanwhile, shortly after one o'clock, about 500 persons left the mosque and started down the Chitpore Road, with the avowed object of marching on Government House to learn the orders of Government. They were stopped by the police at the corner of Canning Street, where the Commissioner of Police informed them that they could not be allowed to proceed. After some parleying and desultory throwing of shoes and other missiles, the crowd returned in the direction of the mosque. In Zakaria Street, however, the mob became very violent and began to stone the police—Mr. Shaw, the Deputy Commissioner in charge, and several other police officers receiving injuries. The police were compelled to fire, and there was apparently some firing from the roof of a Marwari's house which was being attacked by the stone throwers. Another disturbance broke out at the corner of Harrison Road and Halliday Street, where Mr. Bartley, Deputy Commissioner of Police, was stabbed in the neck by some person unknown. Meanwhile some of the promoters had returned from Government House to the mosque, where they endeavoured to persuade the crowd to disperse. By that time, however, matters had got entirely out of hand. There was considerable looting of cloth shops by bad characters, who are always ready to make the most of the opportunity which such occasions afford, and order was not restored until the troops and the Indian Defence Force had been called out. The city was picketed by these forces all night.

7. Except for a few sporadic cases of looting by the badmash element, the morning of the 10th September passed quietly and the presence of the troops appeared to having a good effect. About midday, however, a mob of 2,000 or 3,000 persons appeared in Maniktola Bazar and commenced looting the shops. Attempts by the police to stop them had no effect and the small military detachment in the vicinity was ordered to fire. Two persons were killed and a few injured, after which the rest dispersed. About the same time, the crowd round the Nakhoda mosque began to attack the police and the troops with stones and brickbats. A patrol consisting of three men of the Lincolns tried to drive the crowd back towards the mosque, but met with resistance. The rifle of one man was seized and a struggle ensued during which he was dragged forward to the gateway of the mosque. He attempted to close the gates, when bricks were thrown at him from the top of the stairs and his helmet was knocked off. Believing his life to be in danger, he fired at the mob, whereupon a shower of bricks came from the vaults and verandah of the mosque, and some of the other troops also fired. After the firing ceased, baskets of bricks were seen to be carried down from the gallery of the mosque. Nine persons in all are said to have been wounded. A military Court of Enquiry, which held a full investigation into the matter and examined a number of Muhammadaus who were present in the mosque at the time, found that the private who originally fired did so in good faith thinking his life in danger, and that no blame should attach to him. They also held that the men of the Lincoln patrol were justified in firing, but that the other troops in the street should not have opened fire without direct orders from an officer. The Court also found that no soldier or soldiers entered the precincts of the mosque, except the man above mentioned who went only sufficiently far inside to enable him to close the gates. This man states that he was unaware at the time that the building was a mosque. It is regrettable that such an incident should have occurred in the neighbourhood of a mosque, but the Governor in Council is satisfied that the temper of the crowd was such as to render necessary intervention on the part of the troops.

8. The most serious danger which threatened Calcutta on the 10th September was not, however, in the city itself, but from the south, where notices were issued overnight to the mill-hands at Garden Reach asking them to take an oath to attend a big meeting in Calcutta on the following day. On the morning of the 10th, the staff of three large mills, numbering some 10,000 in all, refused to turn out to work. The first overt act of violence was a brutal and unprovoked attack on a mill foreman who was severely injured. Information being received that the mill hands had determined to force their way into Calcutta, it was decided to picquet the bridges on the roads leading to Calcutta, and a small force of troops was sent down to Garden Reach. About noon, a mob of about 2,000 persons arrived at the junction of Garden Reach Road with Circular Road, where they were held up by a military picquet consisting of eight men. A large number of the crowd carried formidable lathis, and they were led by some fanatical Muhammadans shouting and dancing with bodies smeared with mud. Mr. Sturgis, the Additional Superintendent of Police, and two military officers who were present, entered the crowd at considerable risk to themselves and endeavoured to persuade them to disperse, but without effect. The crowd pushed on till they were close to the troops, who were then compelled to fire, though some of the British Officers were still in the middle of the mob. Fourteen persons were killed and about 30 injured, of whom 10 subsequently died. The loss of life was regrettably heavy at this point, but there can be no question as to the justification of the action of the troops. If a mob, several thousand strong, fired by fanaticism, had swarmed across the Calcutta maidan and forced their way into the city, a situation of the utmost gravity would have arisen.

9. After two o'clock on the 10th September matters gradually settled down, and there was no further serious outbreak, though sporadic looting continued for another 24 hours. A leaflet calling upon the people to desist from violence and to return to their ordinary occupations was issued by some of the promoters of the original meeting, including the Imam of the Nakhoda mosque and other influential persons, and had a good effect.

10. The number of casualties which occurred during the disturbance cannot be stated with absolute precision. The dead were removed and buried surreptitiously. The 43 persons who are known to have been killed include the 24 who were shot at Garden Reach. Of the 19 who were killed within the city, 11 met their death by military or police fire, while eight were done to death by stones, bricks or lathis. About 400 wounded persons were treated at the various hospitals, but the majority were only slightly injured and were discharged after their injuries had been dressed. The number detained in hospital was 154,† and in addition a number of wounded Muhammadans were treated at the Nakhoda mosque.

* Muhammadans	...	36	deaths of 43* persons have been verified, but it is
Hindus	...	7	probable that a certain number of Muhammadan

The damage to property cannot be estimated accurately, but was not excessive, as the majority of the places which were looted were small roadside shops. The persons, some 400 in number, who were caught redhanded looting and rioting, have been placed on their trial before a special Presidency Magistrate.

11. Such, briefly, has been the history of recent occurrences. Although the final flames were fanned by the particular newspaper incident to which reference has been made, the outburst was really the outcome of other smouldering discontents, which were sought to be brought to a head in a meeting of a character which it would have been impossible to control. That the prohibition of the meeting did not suffice to check disorder was due to the fact that by that time, under the influence of violent instigations, the crowd was no longer amenable to reason, and discipline could only be enforced by compulsion. In so doing, the Governor in Council is satisfied that no more force was used by the troops and the police than was necessary for the restoration of law and order in the serious conditions which arose. Lamentable though the loss of life—in many cases innocent life—has been, His Excellency in Council cannot but feel that it is insignificant in comparison with what would have occurred if the mass meeting had taken place on the lines projected. The inflammatory character of the speeches made in connection with the original arrangements, the nature of the leaflets which were issued summoning the meeting, the fact that the meeting was to be spread over three days, and that special efforts were made to bring in the Muhammadan mill population of the suburbs for the last day, leave no room for doubt as to what the consequences would have been, if the crowd had been excited by fanatical appeals to their religious sentiments. It is possible that many of the promoters of the meeting did not realize the dangerous position towards which they were drifting, and some of them did their best to quell the disturbances after they had begun. But it was then too late; their followers were beyond their control, and the only people who could deal with them were the police and the troops.

12. The leading foreign agitators, who by their violent and unbridled language and writings were mainly responsible for these unfortunate events have been removed from the Presidency, and it is to be hoped that the local Muhammadans who unfortunately joined hands with them, will now exercise restraint and moderation. From the outset of the recent troubles, the Governor in Council has spared no pains, even by personal appeal, to make it clear that he is always prepared to consider the grievances of the Muhammadans or of any other section of the community, if they are represented in a constitutional manner, by deputation or otherwise; but mass meetings, with appeals in the name of religion to violence and prejudice, are not a proper means of representing grievances at a time when feelings run high. In recognition of the strength of these feelings, Government have hitherto treated leniently their expression, even when couched in the language of violence and unreason, but events have proved the perils of undue latitude, and in order to protect Calcutta from a recurrence of recent events, the continuance of dangerous agitation must be prevented. At the same time His Excellency in Council appeals earnestly to the members of all communities and to the public press of all shades of opinion for discretion and moderation in expressing their views at the time of peculiar stress and strain.

Recent events have shown only too clearly the harm that can be done by careless and thoughtless expressions, even when published without malicious intent.

13. In conclusion, His Excellency in Council desires to express his indebtedness to General Strange and to the staff of the Presidency Brigade for their prompt assistance and skilful dispositions. The troops employed in quelling the disturbances had a difficult task and carried out the duties allotted to them with humanity and consideration. The thanks of Government are specially due to the members of the Indian Defence Force who turned out cheerfully for long hours of duty, in many cases at considerable sacrifice of their business arrangements and private convenience. Many of the senior members of the force did invaluable service in calming and reasoning with the rioters and persuading them to abstain from further violence. A heavy call was made upon the Fire Brigade under Captain Westbrook, which received 16 calls between the 9th and 11th. They were successful in preventing all fires from developing, while they also assisted in dispersing the crowds and picking up the wounded. The two motor ambulances were kept very busy, and their drivers and attendants worked exceedingly well, while many taxi-cabs which were commandeered (including in particular those of the Indian Motor Taxi Cab Company) worked long hours without complaint and were of much use in expediting transport. Finally, the Governor in Council has great pleasure in acknowledging the excellent service of all ranks of the police who behaved with commendable restraint under very trying circumstances. Many of the officers and men were on duty for forty-eight hours at a stretch, and the strain imposed on the whole force was very severe. No authenticated case of misbehaviour of any kind on the part of the police has been brought to notice, and commendations of their behaviour have been received from many varied sources. Special acknowledgments are due to Mr. R. Clarke, Commissioner of Police, on whom the main burden of responsibility lay. His tact and firmness and his thorough knowledge of the city and its inhabitants were of the greatest service throughout, and His Excellency in Council has great pleasure in recognizing the ability with which the situation was handled by him.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. H. KERR,

SUPERSESSION OF THE BURDWAN MUNICIPALITY.GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.*MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.*Municipal Branch.

DARJEELING, THE 29TH SEPTEMBER 1918.

RESOLUTION No. 678T.—M.

THE maladministration of the Burdwan Municipality has long attracted the attention of Government and has been specially noticed in the last two annual resolutions reviewing the work of municipalities in Bengal. In the resolution recorded for the year 1915-16, it was remarked :—"Of Burdwan it is reported that little good can be said : the roads are bad, the drains are not flushed, the water-supply is abused with impunity, the finances are mismanaged and in confusion, the Municipal Board is rent by faction . . . The Municipality has entirely failed to reduce an abnormal balance of over Rs. 35,000, which for the last two years has been attributed to delay in disposing of the appeals against the revision of assessment in 1914-15—an explanation which Government has already held to be inadequate."

In the resolution for 1916-17 the administration was stigmatized as being "characterized by want of control over the municipal staff, inefficiency and waste of public money . . . The Burdwan Municipality is conspicuous, for the third year in succession, for its failure to reduce arrears, which at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 32,889. The Commissioner reports :—"The laxity of administration in this Municipality is deplorable. Hardly any warrants were issued after the first quarter, and the Municipal Commissioners are now recovering taxes by the cumbrous method of civil suits'."

2. The work of municipalities during the year 1917-18 has not yet been reviewed by Government, but in his report for that year the Commissioner has again drawn attention to the mismanagement prevailing in Burdwan :—"Dishonesty and corruption among the municipal staff have", he writes, "caused serious loss, and municipal affairs have been so mismanaged that general dissatisfaction has been roused among the rate-payers . . . There has been a lack of supervision over the municipal staff, with the result that serious embezzlements and irregularities have occurred, heavy arrears of taxes have accumulated, large outstanding liabilities have not been met, and the closing balances have been unduly reduced."

3. An audit by the Examiner of Local Accounts of the municipal accounts of Burdwan for the period May 1916 to October 1917, which was concluded on the 9th March 1918, disclosed general laxity of supervision, a diversion of the greater part of the credit balance of the water-supply fund, default in the payment of the dues of contractors, and serious malpractices. A special enquiry into the administration during the year 1917-18 was also held by a Deputy Magistrate on the orders of the District Magistrate, who had received numerous complaints from local gentlemen as to grave malpractices by which the administration of the Municipality was characterized. The District Magistrate had for 2½ years lavished advice and remonstrance upon the Municipal Commissioners without the slightest result, and he judged it necessary to institute an enquiry with a view to determining what steps, if any, could be taken to reform the administration and redress the grievances of the rate-payers. The Deputy Magistrate reported that his enquiry was attended with serious difficulties. Papers were suppressed in many cases on the plea that they could not be traced. Neither the Chairman nor the Vice-Chairman showed any alacrity in assisting the investigation. The Municipal Commissioners would not disclose facts that might reflect discredit on their administration. The enquiry, though necessarily incomplete in these circumstances, disclosed a deplorable state of affairs and indisputably proved the fact that a number of the Municipal Commissioners had abused the trust imposed upon them by virtue of their position, and gravely failed in the discharge of their duties.

4. Further evidence of grave maladministration has been furnished by the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, who reported in August 1918 that though the closing balance at the close of the year 1917-18 was shown as Rs. 10,806, the register of unpaid bills had not been written up, and that it was admitted that the unpaid bills amounted to over Rs. 7,000. The subsidiary accounts of special rates (water-rate, latrine-rate, etc.) had not been written up since October and had not been received even by the time when he wrote. The collections of taxes in the year 1917-18 were worse than in the previous year; 6,595 distress warrants were issued for the recovery of taxes due in the first and second quarters of the year 1917-18, and hardly any for the remainder of the year, but 5,463 were pending after the close of the year. There had been great laxity in the matter of remissions, which had been very large for some years past: altogether Rs. 11,834 had been recommended for remission in 1917-18, and it was admitted that in some cases at least no enquiry had been made. The uncollected arrears at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 38,855 or more than a third of the current demand.

5. After the most careful consideration, the Government of Bengal have come to the conclusion that the maladministration of the Burdwan Municipality is a grave public scandal which cannot be allowed to continue. It has been clearly demonstrated that the Municipal Commissioners have abused their powers and proved themselves incompetent to conduct the administration of the Municipality; and, in the opinion of the Governor in Council, it is only by their supersession, in exercise of the special powers of control vested in Government, that the administration can be reformed and the interests of the rate-payers safeguarded. The Governor in Council is, therefore, constrained to declare by this order, issued under section 65 of the Bengal Municipal Act, that the Commissioners of the Burdwan Municipality are incompetent to perform their duties and have abused their powers, and he directs that they be superseded for a period of one year with effect from the date of the publication of this Resolution in the Calcutta Gazette. In exercise of the powers conferred by section 66 of the Act, the Governor in Council further directs that all the powers and duties of the Commissioners shall, during the period of supersession, be exercised and performed by the District Magistrate of Burdwan.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUPERSESSION OF THE HOOGHLY-CHINSURA MUNICIPALITY.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.

Municipal Branch.

DARJEELING, THE 4TH OCTOBER 1918.

RESOLUTION No. 704T.—M.

THE defects in the administration of the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality, more especially as regards the management of the water-works system, have for a long time engaged the serious and anxious attention of Government.

2. Since the water-works were installed the Municipal Commissioners have constantly failed to maintain an adequate supply of coal for their working, and there has been perpetual danger of a breakdown. As long ago as March 1915 the Sanitary Engineer drew attention to the need of an adequate supply in an inspection note, in which he said :—

“I found a serious position of affairs at the pumping station. The coal supply was absolutely exhausted. I cannot understand how the Municipality allow things to get into this state. It shows serious mismanagement. Coal should be obtained in sufficient quantity at a time to last six months and several weeks before one consignment is exhausted, arrangements should be made to have a fresh supply obtained. The present hand-to-mouth system is unbusiness-like and uneconomical.”

These instructions were not carried out, and in July 1916 the Assistant Sanitary Engineer reported that the arrangements for the supply of coal were “as unsatisfactory as ever”. The practice was for a contractor to supply about 13 tons thrice a month, which he observed, left no margin of safety. He pointed out that the entire water-works system would be dislocated if there was a failure to deliver a single supply and in view of the shortage of railway wagons, he urged that it was essential to keep a stock of coal sufficient for at least two or three months. In October the Government Water-works Inspector found only three weeks’ supply of coal in hand and the Sanitary Engineer addressed the Chairman of the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality, pointing out that if at any time the works broke down owing to want of coal, and there was a consequent epidemic of cholera and other water-borne disease, the Municipal Commissioners would have serious cause to reproach themselves for their laxity. When, however, the Assistant Sanitary Engineer and the Water-works Inspector inspected in December 1916, the former found only two days’ and the latter only three days’ supply of inferior coal in stock. The matter was considered at a meeting of the Sanitary Board held in February 1917 and it was resolved that the Chairman of the Municipality should be informed that, in the opinion of the Board, a six months supply of coal should be kept in stock. In reply the Vice-Chairman reported that orders were being given for a supply sufficient to last for six months.

3. There was, however, no real improvement, and the Assistant Sanitary Engineer recorded the following remarks in an inspection note, dated the 16th August 1917 :—

“The whole question of coal supply is urgently in need of reform. In spite of the promise by the Municipality in their letter of February 27th to keep a six months’ stock of coal, practically no coal stock has been provided up to date. On August 14th there was about a ton in the coal shed, and 16 tons, belonging to the coal contractor, outside the works. This was being brought into the works by the municipal coolies, and two coolies are continuously employed in breaking it. Two other coolies are employed in coal breaking when they can be spared, and the four can work fast enough to reduce the coal sufficiently for it to be fed by the mechanical stoker. Very often the firing has to be done by hand, with a consequent increased consumption. On one occasion the Superintendent was reduced to burning firewood in order to keep up the water-supply. The quality of the coal is so bad that the consumption works out at 11 or 12 lbs. per horse power per hour instead of the ordinary amount of 7 or 8 lbs. What is required is a contract for the immediate supply of six months' stock of properly sized good quality coal. For this a little higher price may have to be paid, but through reduced coal consumption the Municipality will not be loser."

A copy of this note was forwarded to the Municipality by the Sanitary Engineer, who found it necessary to convey the following warning :—

"The continual insufficiency of the coal supply at these water-works has been a disgrace to the Municipal Commissioners. In almost every inspection note on these works which has issued from this office since they were inaugurated, attention has been drawn to the dangerous shortage of coal. The Municipal Commissioners have so far as I am aware, taken no action whatever to improve matters and appear to be quite unable to realize the serious responsibility which would rest upon them if the works broke down for want of coal."

A further warning was given by Government in Resolution No. 2431M., dated the 29th December 1917, on the working of the municipalities in the Bengal Presidency during the year 1916-17, in which it was remarked :—

"Unchecked waste goes on in Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality, and there is a constant danger of the works stopping for want of coal. Not only is the stock of coal inadequate—on one occasion firewood has had to be burnt to keep up the water-supply—but the quality is so bad that the consumption is 50 per cent. above the ordinary amount."

The possibility of its being necessary to supersede the Municipal Commissioners under section 65 of the Bengal Municipal Act was at the same time adverted to.

4. In June 1918, the Sanitary Board forwarded to Government a letter, dated the 30th April 1918, to the Sanitary Commissioner, from the Civil Surgeon of Hooghly, who is also a Municipal Commissioner, drawing attention to the connection between certain outbreaks of cholera and the failure of the Municipal Commissioners to keep an adequate stock of coal at the water-works and so maintain a full supply of filtered water.

The report of the Civil Surgeon was as follows :—

"With reference to the recent outbreaks of cholera in the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality, I have the honour to observe that they are coincident with the institution of an intermittent water-supply in the town and are, in my opinion, dependent on this, since an intermittent supply means that those who are thirsty during the hours on which the water is cut off must either drink from other sources of supply, such as the river, tanks or wells, or must drink stored and possibly decomposing water. It is now acknowledged by the Municipality that the inability to supply water continuously is due to a very dangerous shortage of coal : indeed, there has been no stock of coal at all at the pumping station, and small quantities have within a few days been purchased locally at high rates to carry on with. There is a dispute regarding the responsibility for the failure of an expected supply of coal to arrive, and a sub-committee was appointed by the Municipal Commissioners at a meeting of the Commissioners held yesterday to go into the matter. At this meeting I pointed out that the present state of affairs could not have occurred had the Municipality acted upon the advice tendered to them by the Sanitary Board in their meeting of the 14th February 1917, when it was stated that, in the opinion of the Sanitary Board, 6 months' supply of coal should be kept in stock at the water-works. I proposed that this advice should be acted upon. This proposal was neither seconded nor publicly supported in any way by any Commissioner present, and so was not even put to the meeting. It is hoped that this letter will be considered by the Sanitary Board as evidence that their suggestion had not been acted upon and that the present serious and dangerous condition is the direct result of the failure to do so."

5. In submitting this report to Government, the Secretary to the Sanitary Board wrote :—

"The Sanitary Board decided at their last meeting that it was necessary for them to bring to the special notice of Government this instance where the neglect of their most elementary duties by the Commissioners of the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality has resulted in serious loss of life. A serious outbreak of cholera recently occurred at Hooghly-Chinsura, which was due, as pointed out by the Civil Surgeon, to the inadequate supply of water. The shortage of supply was the result of the failure of the Municipality to maintain a sufficient stock of coal at the water-works. The Sanitary Board and the Sanitary Engineer have on several occasions pointed out to the Municipal Commissioners the danger of keeping such a small quantity of coal in stock, and in February last the Sanitary Board advised them to keep a six months' supply in reserve ; but the Commissioners have persistently disregarded the advice which has been given to them, and are directly responsible by their deliberate neglect of an obvious duty for this outbreak of disease and the deaths that have occurred."

6. On the 1st May 1918 (the day after the Civil Surgeon had addressed the Sanitary Commissioner), the Assistant Sanitary Engineer inspected the water-works and recorded the following remarks :—

"When I arrived I found only the high lift pump working, a steam pressure of only 60 lbs and of the settling tanks two empty and the third containing only 1 foot of water. In the clear water reservoir there was only 2' 4" of water, the elevated reservoirs were both empty, and at the far end of the town practically no water was being obtained. The Civil Surgeon states that cholera is much increasing in the town owing to the shortage of filtered water. All this is due to the fact that the Municipality has failed to supply the water-works with coal. From April 25th there has been no coal in stock, the works having been kept going for short and irregular hours with small quantities of coal purchased from the bazar at exorbitant rates—very inferior coal with which wood is having to be burnt. On the morning of the 1st about 16 maunds of coal was brought on to the works after the proper starting time. This lasted until 1 P.M., when pumping was having to be stopped : only just then a bullock wagon with about 8 maunds of coal wandered into the compound. These matters were discussed with the Chairman. He stated that 50 tons of coal had been ordered, of which 25 tons was expected to arrive every minute, and the other 25 tons in two or three days' time. He also undertook to order from Messrs. N. Sarkar & Co. 50 tons of coal to be delivered at once, and an additional 250 tons to follow as soon as possible to go into stock, and thereafter to contract for a monthly supply of 55 tons for daily use, all these orders to be given by special indent through the Coal Controller. The indent will come to this office for special recommendation and explanation of the necessity of creating a reserve stock of 250 tons. The Chairman should lose no time in pushing through these negotiations, as the matter is one of vital urgency."

7. The Assistant Sanitary Engineer again inspected the water-works on the 5th June and again drew attention to the shortage of coal as follows :—

"Some 15 tons of coal was in stock, i.e., about a week's supply ; the coal is of such poor quality that hand-firing is necessary, and sufficient steam cannot be supplied by one boiler to keep the high and low lift engines going at the same time. The coal consumption per horse power is therefore very high. I was informed that 200 tons of coal has been ordered, but whether this will all go into stock, and an additional 55 tons per month be ordered for regular use, I do not know. What is required is a stock of 250 tons of good coal, so that in case of emergency the water-works will not be brought to a standstill."

In submitting his inspection note to Government, the Sanitary Engineer remarked :—

"The history of the proceedings of this Municipality in connection with the water-works has been discreditable from beginning to end ; and I regret that I have been forced to the conclusion that the present Municipal Commissioners are not fit to have control over this installation, upon which the health of 30,000 persons depends."

8. In July, the Government Water-works Inspector found only 8 tons of coal, or about four days' supply, in stock, and that of a very poor quality. In the note of his inspection in June, the Assistant Sanitary Engineer had commented adversely on the action of the Municipal Commissioners in instructing the Water-works Superintendent not to add alum to the water in the settling tanks "for economy's sake" and had pointed out that its use was absolutely necessary, especially in the rainy season. In spite of this, the Inspector found that no alum was being added to the water, as the Superintendent had received instructions from the Municipal Commissioners not to use more than 2 grains per gallon under any circumstances. Owing to the turbidity of the river this quantity was not sufficient to cause any reaction, and consequently the Superintendent discontinued using alum altogether. The Inspector pointed out that the Municipal Commissioners had no right to issue any such orders and warned them that should any epidemic of water-borne disease occur, they would be responsible for it owing to their interference. An analysis of the water made by the Sanitary Commissioner in July showed intensive faecal pollution due to inefficient filtration, as a result of which the water was not much better than raw river water. As a result of an enquiry by the Water-works Inspector on the 31st July it was found that this result was due to the discontinuance of the use of alum and the failure to replenish the filters with fine sand in spite of the fact that the Municipal Commissioners had been frequently addressed on the subject since April 1917.

9. On the 6th September, another inspection was made by the Water-works Inspector, who found that conditions were no better than they had been at the time of his previous visits. The only coal in stock consisted of 12 tons of very poor quality which had been received on the previous day : repairs to elevated reservoirs, street standposts, etc., of which the necessity had repeatedly been urged, had not been carried out ; owing to an insufficient quantity of sand being available the work of replenishing the filters had been only half done ; the staff was at less than half the proper strength, 10 out of 18 men having left, partly, it was explained, in consequence of unhealthiness and partly in consequence of irregularity of pay. ✓

These strictures on the managements of the water-works are confirmed by the following remarks made by the Magistrate of Hooghly in reviewing the work of the Municipality during the year 1917-18.

"The water-supply was not regular for want of coal, and the usual hours of supplying water had to be curtailed in consequence to the great inconvenience of the public. The stock of coal was not sufficient, and the work was managed at times by locally purchasing a few cart loads of coal."

10. The record of the failure of the Municipal Commissioners to ensure the metering of private house-connections in accordance with the rules issued by Government under section 290, Bengal Municipal Act, in February 1915 is equally unsatisfactory. Within seven months after the issue of these rules, the Municipal Commissioners had given nearly 300 house-connections without meters, with the result that persons with private connections were using 30 to 40 gallons of water per head daily, whilst the rest of the population were getting only 4 gallons per head. Orders were, therefore, issued by Government in December 1915, that every house-connection must be fitted with a meter, without any further delay. At a meeting held on the 17th July 1916, the Municipal Commissioners resolved that, from the 1st August 1916, no house-connections should be allowed without meters and that the connections made before the 31st July 1916 should be metered by the 1st January 1917. Subsequently, however, on the representation of rate-payers that very few meters were available in the market and that the prices at which they could be obtained were prohibitive, the Commissioners resolved, on the 16th December 1916, to extend the time for affixing meters to the 1st July 1917. This resolution was accepted by Government, but at the same time it was pointed out that meters should be ordered without further delay, in order that they might be affixed before the expiry of the extended period. On the 12th April 1917, the Municipal Commissioners passed a resolution to the effect that new applications for house-connections presented up to the 30th June 1917 might be granted without meters being affixed provided that the applicants gave a written undertaking to fix meters when required by the Commissioners to do so and deposited a sum of Rs. 25 as security for the due fulfilment of their undertaking. From the date on which this resolution was passed up to the 24th May 1917, six new house-connections were allowed bringing the total number of connections up to 384, of which only 44 had been metered ; of these 44 all but 11 were on Government buildings.

11. Subsequently notices were issued by the Chairman on the 20th May 1917, to the house owners who had unmetered connections stating that if they failed to provide meters by the 1st July 1917, the water would be cut off. Protests were made against this notice by some of the house-owners concerned, and a special meeting was held by the Municipal Commissioners on the 18th June 1917 to consider the matter. At this meeting it was resolved that the notice in question should be withdrawn and that no further action should be taken in the matter of the introduction of meters without a resolution by the Commissioners at a meeting. It was urged by the Municipal Commissioners that no meters of the size required were available, but enquiry showed that no order for the supply of meters had ever been given while the Commissioners had not taken any effective action to secure the affixing of meters, either by themselves or by private persons, since the publication of the rules in 1915.

12. In these circumstances it was pointed out to the Municipal Commissioners in August 1917 that it was clearly their duty to insist on the enforcement of the agreements for the provision of meters, that their resolution of the 18th June 1917 was contrary to the spirit of the rules issued under the Bengal Municipal Act and in excess of their legal powers, and that their action in having allowed house-connections without meters, being a violation of those rules, was ultra vires. They were accordingly directed to rescind their resolution and place orders without further loss of time for the necessary number of meters to be supplied at the earliest possible date. At the same time their attention was drawn to the fact that the consumption per head had increased from 4·81 gallons per head in 1914 to 11·29 gallons per head in 1916, concomitantly with the grant of unmetered house-connections; that it was estimated that one-eighth of the inhabitants were consuming more than one-half of the water supplied; and that the poorer classes suffered from want of water owing to wasteful consumption by their richer neighbours. In reply to these orders the Municipal Commissioners submitted a representation to the Government were unable to accept this argument, which was contrary to the proved facts, and in January 1918 directed the Municipal Commissioners, on pain of supersession under section 65 of the Bengal Municipal Act, to place an order within one month for 120 meters, which should be affixed by instalments and the cost thereof recovered from the house-holders concerned. It was suggested that as soon as the cost of each instalment was recovered, an order for the same number should be given and they should similarly be affixed, the process being repeated until all the unmetered connections were metered. The orders of Government were accepted by the Commissioners, and in February 1918 the Chairman reported that an order for 120 meters had been issued, which on receipt would be duly affixed to the house-connections already granted in the way suggested by Government.

13. On the 2nd May, the Assistant Sanitary Engineer reported that the 120 meters ordered had been received, but no surface boxes had either been ordered or received, and no attempt had been made to fix the meters. The Sanitary Engineer wrote to the Chairman pointing out that the spirit of the Government orders had been flagrantly disregarded and threatening to report to Government if this defiant attitude continued. In reply, the Chairman stated that the owners of unmetered houses had been called upon to affix meters within a month. When, however, the Assistant Sanitary Engineer inspected on the 15th June he found that out of 120 meters only 2 had been sent out, and that the Commissioners had resolved to purchase only 20 surface boxes for meters. On the 12th July, the Water-works Inspector reported that only 4 of the 120 meters had been fitted and that out of 400 existing connections only 55 were metered, of which 40 were on Government buildings. At a subsequent visit made on the 6th September, the Inspector found that no more meters had been fixed.

14. The Governor in Council regrets to observe that the management of the water-works is not the only respect in which the Municipal Commissioners have failed to discharge their duties properly during their term of office. Their neglect of other branches of the administration has more than once been animadverted upon by Government. In the annual resolution on the working of municipalities during 1915-16 it was remarked :

“The Commissioners of Hooghly-Chinsura declined to impose a water-rate adequate to meet the maintenance charges of the water-works; the collection of taxes was bad; and the Municipality had insufficient funds to carry out municipal work efficiently.”

In the resolution for 1916-17, Government again drew attention to the serious defects of the administration :—

“The state of affairs”, it was stated, “in the important municipality of Hooghly-Chinsura continued to be far from satisfactory. The collections were defective and the roads bad; there was excessive consumption of filtered water by private house-holders in the absence of meters; and sanitary officers had not been appointed at the end of the year.”

15. No improvement in the administration has since been effected. In a note on the audit of the municipal accounts, dated the 13th November 1917, the Examiner of Local Accounts observed that the taxation accounts were in a deplorable condition. In his annual report for the year 1917-18, dated the 1st September 1918, the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, after referring to the fact that the Municipal Commissioners had appointed neither a Health Officer nor a second Sanitary Inspector, as required by the statutory rules of Government, reported :—

“There has been a lack of supervision over the municipal staff with the result that serious irregularities and embezzlements have occurred; heavy arrears of taxes have accumulated; large outstanding liabilities have not been met, and the closing balances have been unduly reduced. The outstanding liabilities are considerable and the financial position is very unsatisfactory. This is partly due to the imposition of an inadequate water-rate, the income from which is insufficient to meet the charges for water-supply.”

A recent inspection by the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, held on the 22nd September 1918, has shown that the financial condition of the Municipality is even worse than was suspected and that it is practically bankrupt. He found a serious deficit in the water-rate fund due to the refusal of the Municipal Commissioners to assess an adequate rate. The balance to the credit of the water-works capital account was Rs. 8,541 on the 31st March 1918, but the whole of this balance had been diverted. The arrears of taxes at the beginning of the year amounted to Rs. 10,937, of which Rs. 6,605 was still unrealized. Out of a demand of Rs. 40,533 for the half-year ending on the 30th September 1918, nearly Rs. 11,000 had still to be collected. The actual cash balance on the 31st August was only Rs. 225-8, and the amount due on account of unpaid bills received by the Municipal Commissioners aggregated Rs. 24,386. The Chairman estimated that about Rs. 5,000 was also due on account of bills which had not yet been presented, so that the liabilities amounted to about Rs. 30,000. The outdoor staff office establishment and even the road coolies had not yet received their pay for August. The Commissioner had already asked the Municipal Commissioners to examine their financial condition with reference to the question of paying outstanding debts and meeting the deficit of the water-rate fund. He laconically reports the result :—

“At a meeting held on the 10th September, the Municipal Commissioners resolved to postpone the consideration of this subject.”

16. After the most careful consideration, the Government of Bengal have come to the conclusion that the Municipal Commissioners have persistently made default in the performance of their duties and have proved themselves incompetent to conduct the administration of the Municipality. They have been treated for years past with great patience, but have deliberately neglected the warnings and instructions given to them; and the Governor in Council is reluctantly forced to decide that temporary supersession is necessary in the interests of the rate-payers themselves.

In these circumstances, the Governor in Council declares by this order, issued under section 65 of the Bengal Municipal Act, that the Commissioners of the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality are incompetent to perform and persistently make default in the performance of their duties, and he directs that they be superseded for the period of one year with effect from the date of the publication of this Resolution in the Calcutta Gazette. In exercise of the powers conferred by section 66 of the Act, the Governor further directs that all the powers and duties of the Commissioners shall, during the period of supersession, be exercised and performed by the District Magistrate of Hooghly for the time being.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.Preliminary Forecast of the bhadoi crops of Bengal, 1918-19.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1916-17, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6.5 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—The weather was generally favourable in the beginning of the season. Sowings, in consequence, commenced at the usual time. April and May were favourable months for the autumn crops, especially in the Eastern Bengal districts, although the rainfall in the latter month was somewhat excessive. The heavy rainfall in June and absence of sunshine however retarded growth. In July the bhadoi crops suffered through want of rain in some of the western districts. Floods during this month and excessive rain in August were responsible for damage in the eastern and northern districts. On the whole the season may be regarded as an unfavourable one for these crops.

Acreage.—The total area sown this year with the different bhadoi crops is returned at 5,937,200 acres against 5,905,300 acres and 5,964,300 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Of this area that under autumn rice is estimated at 5,046,300 acres against 5,073,900 acres and 5,076,100 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of the District Officers the outturn of the different bhadoi crops works out to 81 per cent. of the normal against 87 and 88 per cent. reported respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Autumn rice, which is the most important bhadoi crop, shows an outturn of 81 per cent. as compared with 87 and 88 per cent. in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.First Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1918-19.

(Note.—0: the average of the five years ending 1916-17 the area under winter rice in Bengal represents some 19·3 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India).

Two crops, agriculturally distinct, are returned in the Winter Rice Forecasts, one the broadcasted deep water rice found mostly in Eastern Bengal and sown from the beginning of March onwards, the other and more important crop being transplanted from seedbeds in July and August. Early rainfall (but not floods) suits the sowing of the broadcast crop and of seedbeds for the transplanted varieties. Good general rainfall in July and August permits of a large area of the transplanted crop being planted, while plentiful showers in October secures a full crop in those districts where the soil is on account of its high situation or of its comparative porosity not ideally suitable for paddy cultivation. Both crops are harvested about the same time, the main crop being generally cut in December.

Character of the Season.—The season began unusually favourably the sowings of the deep water broadcast crop and of seedbeds being completed in good time. As a result of the favourable rainfall in May and June preparatory tillage for the transplanted crop was well advanced. The July rainfall was below normal in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions generally and in the districts of Rajshahi, Bogra, Pabna, Malda and Noakhali. Pabna, however, grows comparatively little of the transplanted crop. Noakhali had plenty of rain at any rate, and the deficiency in Rajshahi was not sufficient to affect transplantation. Outside the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions, Bogra and Malda were therefore the only two districts to suffer from sub-normal rainfall. The deficiency in July was, however, completely made up in August and a full area of the transplanted crop has been put down.

Acreeage.—According to the figures returned by District Officers the total area under the winter rice crop amounts to 15,945,800 acres as compared with 15,299,000 and 15,515,500 acres in the First and Final Forecasts of last year. The increase over last year's figures is to be found mainly in the large increases shown in the Dinajpur and Rungpore returns, where the area was seriously reduced last year owing to scarcity of autumn rainfall. No district shows any serious decline this year.

Outturn :—

(NOTE.—As the crop at the time of reporting is not yet in ear outturn figures in this Forecast must be qualified with the remark that the estimates in each case are based on the assumption of normal weather conditions prevailing until at least the end of October. For example there is still time for the outturn of the transplanted crop to be seriously reduced through drought while unusually favourable conditions till harvest time would produce bumper crops in many districts.)

From the District returns it will be noted that the crop expectations vary from 50 per cent. of the normal in the case of the Chittagong Hill Tracts which, however, are unimportant from the point of view of area to 108 per cent. in Burdwan which is the only district returning a crop above normal. Six districts anticipate a normal crop, thirteen a crop between 80 to 98 per cent., four between 68 per cent. and 75 per cent. and three below the latter figure.

On the basis of the above figures the Provincial crop expectations are 90 per cent. of normal against 96 per cent. in the corresponding forecast of last year. The averaging of District estimates for the First Forecast is, however, not always a trustworthy method of arriving at Provincial figures, as most District Officers wisely decline to submit figures above normal at so early a stage. It is clear that with ordinarily favourable weather, the crop in many districts will this year exceed the normal. Prospects, on the whole, are no worse than they were at the time of the First Forecast of last year when the district normals averaged 96 per cent. I consider, therefore, that 95 per cent. of normal would represent a fairly reasonable expectation for the Presidency in the absence of any unduly unfavourable weather conditions.

DARJEELING,

The 1st October, 1918.

S. MILLIGAN.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

FIRST FORECAST OF THE WINTER RICE CROP OF BENGAL, 1918-19.

DISTRICT.	Estimated normal area under winter rice.	ESTIMATED AREA UNDER WINTER RICE.		ESTIMATED OUTTURN AS A PERCENTAGE OF THE NORMAL YIELD PER UNIT OF AREA.		Date by which the sowing of broadcasted winter rice commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Date by which the transplanting of winter rice commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	REMARKS BY DISTRICT OFFICERS.
		Last year (1917-18).	This year (1918-19).	Last year.	This year.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
24-Parganas ...	899,700	880,400	894,200	117	100	May; normal	July; normal	The increase in area is due to more area being brought under cultivation owing to reclamation of lands in the Sundarbans. The weather has been generally favourable but heavy rainfall damaged the crop to some extent in the Baschat subdivision. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Nadia ...	126,800	123,800	125,800	83	58	April; normal	July; normal	The increase in area is due to some jute lands being sown with aman paddy owing to low price of jute in 1917-18. The weather has not been favourable. There was scant rainfall at the time of transplantation and heavy rainfall afterwards when not required. Some damage was done by excessive rainfall. For uniformly rainfall the outturn is expected to be much below the normal.
Murshidabad	815,600	312,100	319,700	92	92	May to June; normal.	June to July	The increase in area is due to early and favourable rainfall at the sowing season. The weather has been favourable, but rain was wanted in July for transplantation. Heavy rain in August may affect the crop.
Jessore ...	368,100	463,000	455,600	96	84	April; normal	July; normal	The decrease in area was due to want of timely rain as well as to excessive and untimely rain and the lands having been under water at sowing time. The weather has not been favourable. The paddy in low lands were submerged in some places.
Khulna ...	745,300	750,000	743,900	108	100	May and June; normal.	July; normal	The decrease in area was due to untimely heavy rainfall. The weather has been favourable. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Burdwan ...	874,800	716,000	717,000	108	108	Middle of May to middle of June.	June to August.	The weather was favourable at sowing time. Excessive rainfall has affected the growth of the crop in the Sadar subdivision. Elsewhere it is favourable. Slight damage has been done in the Kaloa subdivision owing to flood.
Birbhum ...	604,800	601,300	601,500	100	100	No broadcast sowing in this district.	End of June; early.	The weather has been favourable.
Bankura ...	50,800	520,000	520,000	117	94	Middle of June; normal.	Middle of July	The insufficient rain in June and July retarded the transplantation for some time.
Midnapore ...	1,579,400	1,637,000	1,648,900	110	100	May; normal	July; normal	The increase in area is due to extended cultivation. The weather was favourable at sowing time but scanty rainfall in July affected the transplantation to some extent. The weather has since been favourable. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Hooghly ...	276,700	198,000	196,900	100	84	May; normal	In Arambagh, June early, to Serampore and Sadar, July late.	The decrease in area was due to want of timely rainfall. The weather has not been favourable. It was dry at sowing time, but there was frequent heavy rainfall later on.
Howrah ...	123,200	119,300	114,400	87	88	Middle of May; early.	Middle of July; normal.	The decrease in area was due to excessive rain at the beginning. The weather has been favourable at present, but it was not so at sowing time. For want of sufficient rain in July and August the outturn is expected to fall below the normal.
Bajshahi ...	697,000	622,600	620,000	80	58	April; normal	Latter part of July; normal.	The increase in area was due to the fact that owing to low prices of jute last year the cultivators took more largely to cultivation of winter rice. The weather was favourable at the time of sowing and continued so up to 26th August when a large tract in the Naogonj subdivision was flooded by an abnormal rainfall followed by rise of the river. The flood extended later on to parts of the Sadar subdivision. The approximate damage in the Naogonj subdivision is estimated at 80 per cent.
Dinajpur ...	1,120,000	749,800	1,035,900	80	82	Middle of May; normal.	First part of July; normal.	The increase in area was due to timely rainfall. The weather was favourable at sowing time but has not been so subsequently owing to heavy rainfall which retarded the growth of the crop. The flood also caused a little damage to the low land crop. Hence the outturn is expected to fall below the normal.
Jaipur ...	361,300	484,000	485,400	100	85	Beginning of May; normal.	End of June (early in Alipur and normal in other parts).	The decrease in area is due to the fact that the transplantation was not finished at the time when the forecast was submitted. The weather has been favourable. Insufficient rainfall in August in the Alipur subdivision has caused the outturn to fall below the normal.
Darjeeling ...	65,300	26,100	25,900	100	100	May-June; normal.	July-August; normal.	The weather has been favourable.
Rangpur ...	823,300	685,000	673,000	81	80	May; normal	Beginning of June; normal.	The increase in area is due partly to favourable weather at sowing time and partly to low price of jute obtained last year. The weather has been favourable but about 25 per cent. of the crop of low lands in the Galbandha subdivision suffered from floods.
Hogra ...	303,000	445,500	450,000	80	68	Middle of March; normal.	1st week of June; normal.	Want of rain at sowing time was not favourable to the cultivation and growth of the crop. High flood due to excessive rain in June, July and August also caused damage. Hence the outturn is much below the normal.

Mecca ...	647,900*	646,000	647,000	110	93	End of March; normal.	Middle of July; normal.	For broadcasted winter rice the weather was favourable during the sowing time but for the transplanted paddy there was too much rain. Some damage has been done to the crop owing to high flood.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF OFFICER ON THE WORKING OF THE CALCUTTA FIRE BRIGADE AND AMBULANCE DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31st MARCH 1918.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2521M.—The 10th October 1918.—The following is published for general information under section 41 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, 1893 (Bengal Act I of 1893).

L. S. S. O'MALLEY.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. $\frac{F. B. 48-18}{548}$, dated Calcutta, the 13th September 1918.

From—R. CLARKE, Esq., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

IN accordance with paragraph 41, section 2 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893), I have the honour to submit herewith the report of the Chief Officer on the working of the Fire Brigade and Ambulance Department for the year ending the 31st March 1918.

No. ^{F. B. 48-18}₅₀₈, dated Calcutta, the 13th August 1918.

From—B. A. WESTBROOK, Esq., Chief Officer, Fire Brigade, Calcutta,

To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,
(Through R. Clarke, Esq., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I have the honour to present the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ended the 31st March 1918.

During the year under review, the Brigade was under the charge of Mr. W. Jarret, Station Officer in charge, Headquarters, as I was on deputation in Mesopotamia to advise on the fire-protection of the Mesopotamia Expeditionary Force.

2. Financial Statement.—The statement of the receipts and expenditure and payments made by the Municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade Act I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

3. Fires, etc.—The total number of fires or supposed fires dealt with by the Fire Brigade during the year under review is 427, being a decrease of 28 as compared with previous year and resulting in :—

Fires	331 (335 in 1916-17)
False alarms	88 (108 in 1916-17)
Calls for special service	8 (12 in 1916-17)

In connection with the false alarms it is unsatisfactory to note that no less than 58 were assumed to be given wilfully.

Nine fires occurred in premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act I of 1893, as compared with 15 in the previous year. The nature of the trades requiring licenses under this Act are enumerated in Appendix XVII :—

On three	days	6 fires or supposed fires occurred	...	18
" seven	" 5	ditto ditto	...	35
" ten	" 4	ditto ditto	...	40
" twenty-five	" 3	ditto ditto	...	75
" seventy	" 2	ditto ditto	...	140
" one hundred and nineteen	day 1	ditto ditto	...	119
Total				427

Summaries are given in the Appendix showing :—

The district in which fires or supposed fires occurred (Appendix III).

The number of fires on every day and month throughout the year (Appendix IV).

Daily and hourly summary of fires or supposed fires (Appendix V).

The actual number of calls received during the year is 588 (639 in 1916-17), which figure included several instances where more than one call was received for the same fire. The means by which these calls were transmitted to the Brigade are given in Appendix II.

4. Fire Loss.—The damage caused by fire and water during the year is Rs. 7,82,835 (Rs. 13,17,495 in 1916-17) which is below the average for the past eight years by Rs. 2,88,902.

The average damage per fire during the current year is Rs. 1,131 as compared with Rs. 6,002 for the past eight years.

Summaries are given in Appendix showing :—

Damage caused by fire, etc., in various districts (Appendix VI).

Classification of fires and calls (Appendix VII).

Means by which fires were extinguished (Appendix VIII).

Causes of fires and buildings affected (Appendix XV).

Comparative statement for the past nine years (Appendix XVIII).

5. Fire Reports.—Short reports of fires Rs. 1,000 damaged and over, are given in (Appendix IX).

6. Appliances.—Appendix X shows the present distribution of the principal appliances in use by the Brigade, and Appendix XI gives the number of times each appliance has been turned out in response to fire calls, with monthly figures.

It is estimated that motor appliances travelled 3,659 miles and horse-drawn appliances 134 miles during the year in responding to and returning from calls.

Orders have been placed with Messrs. Merryweather & Sons, Ltd., and Messrs. Leyland & Co. for new Motor Fire Engines, but delivery has not yet been effected owing to the war.

7. Fire Stations.—Appendix XII gives the number of times each station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with monthly figures.

Headquarters are still situated in the premises temporarily hired from the Samavaya Corporation, Ltd. A suitable site has now been selected at the Fenwick Bazar Police outpost and plans for permanent Headquarters are being prepared.

The Improvement Trust having acquired the Halliday Street Pumping Station site, the section of the Fire Brigade located there had to be removed to 20, Convent Road, Entally, from 15th October 1917, which was hired at a monthly rental of Rs. 425 only. Arrangements are in progress to build a permanent out-station at the Halliday Street site as the congested portion of the town in that area is now insufficiently protected.

8. Staff.—The total strength of the Brigade is 220. The general conduct and discipline has been good. Many changes have taken place in the personnel owing to men proceeding on Active Service. Under Government Order No. 30 T. M., dated 5th January 1918, sanction has been received to the revision of pay of the superior establishment of the Brigade, and a moochi has been entertained. The revision has been made commensurate with the recommendations made in the Re-organisation Report.

Owing to the increase of Fire Brigade work, and the large amount of stores, etc., necessary for the maintenance of the Brigade, it has been found necessary to inaugurate separate Stores Department. Government has been approached on the subject, and it is hoped that sanction will be accorded for this Department at an early date.

9. Fatalities and Accidents.—Short details of fires and calls involving loss of life and accidents are given in Appendix XIV.

I regret to report that Sergeant Brodie of the Calcutta Police attached to the Fire Brigade was fatally injured whilst proceeding to a fire on the 30th January 1918. Full enquiries were made and it was found that no blame could be attached to the Driver of the Fire Engine as the accident was due to the fact that road repairs were being carried out and no warning lights were exhibited.

The total fatalities are 7 as compared with 10 in the previous year. Of these 2 cases of suicide by burning.

First aid was rendered in almost every case by the Fire Brigade with the materials carried on the appliances.

10. Horses.—Sixteen horses were in service at the commencement of the year. One horse has been cast and sold as being unfit for the Fire Brigade work, and one has been purchased, leaving a total of sixteen at the close of the year.

11. Water-supply.—In several instances difficulty has been experienced in obtaining adequate water for fire-extinguishing purposes.

The entertainment of duplicate set of pumps for the unfiltered water-supply requires consideration, as when the existing pumps require repairing or overhauling, a considerable portion of the City is left practically unprotected.

In several areas, such as Chitpur, Howrah and Garden Reach, there is considerable danger of serious fires occurring as no water mains are laid and many of the existing tanks are being filled up on sanitary grounds.

It is hoped that prompt action will be taken in this matter as the value and importance of the properties at risk is enormous.

I have to thank the officers of the Water Department of the Calcutta Corporation for their endeavours to improve the supply and for their attention to any complaints which are made.

12. Street Fire Alarms, Telephones and Electrical communications.—

Appendix 11 shows the means by which fire calls have been transmitted to the Fire Brigade.

It is satisfactory to note that cases of delay in calling the Fire Brigade have decreased in number, which is due to the installation of Street Fire Alarms. This Fire Alarm system has been of extensive service and undoubtedly has been the means of preventing many serious fires.

My thanks are due to the Bengal Telephone Company for their efficiency in keeping the Fire Alarms and telephones in good working order and for their continued interest in all matters appertaining to Fire Brigade work.

Appendix XVI gives the position of street fire alarms erected and about to be erected. At present there are in all 125 in use.

13. Inspection Department, Theatres and places of Public Amusements.—A considerable amount of work has been carried out in endeavouring to safeguard the public in places of amusement, but I regret that the progress is very slow. As mentioned in my previous reports, the bye-laws regulating the theatres, etc., required amendment giving the requisite power of enforcing the necessary safeguards and provision of fire appliances.

Two celluloid film fires occurred during the year and in one case one person was burned to death.

14. General.—Progress has been made in protecting individual risks and on many occasions advice has been given on fire protection.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893) during the year under review, 5,457 inspections have been made (exclusive of theatres and places of public amusement).

371 applications for licenses and complaints have been received and disposed of.

215 prosecutions were instituted under section 14 of Act I of 1893, which resulted in 187 persons being fined, 13 persons being warned and 15 cases being withdrawn or filed.

3 Licenses were refused as the sites were not considered suitable and in conformity with the requirements from the Fire Brigade point of view.

15. Firework licenses, etc.—During the year five licenses were granted for letting off fireworks under section 36, Act I of 1893.

One person was prosecuted, convicted and fined for selling fireworks without license.

16. Jurisdiction.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the municipalities of Calcutta, Cossipore-Chitpore, Howrah, Maniktala and Garden Reach, and may attend fires outside the boundaries of these municipalities (but not exceeding a radius of 6 miles from the Central Fire Station), provided that appliances can be spared and on payment of a prescribed fee. Appendix XIX gives the Government Order relating to this and the form which has to be signed prior to the Fire Brigade leaving the jurisdiction of the above municipalities.

The actual area protected by the Calcutta Fire Brigade is just over 113 square miles, and the population included in the same is about 1½ millions.

17. Map.—For economical purposes the map usually inserted in this report, showing the situation of fire stations, fire alarms, etc., and where fires have occurred, is omitted.

18. Ambulance Service.—Since the inauguration of the Motor Ambulance Service in January 1916, a considerable amount of useful work has been carried out.

Up to the 31st March 1918, no less than 6,012 calls have been dealt with and the ambulance waggons have travelled about 32,450 miles.

During the year under review, 3,643 calls have been received (2,317 in 1916-17) and the machines have travelled about 18,849½ miles (13,600 in 1916-17).

Details of the work are given in the Appendix Nos. XXI, XXII, showing—

The number of calls on every day and month throughout the year (Appendix XXI).

Daily and hourly summary of calls (Appendix XXII).

The staff of the Ambulance Service consists of four drivers and eight attendants, two drivers and two attendants being always on duty at the following salaries :—

Drivers, Rs. 80 per month and free quarters.

Attendants, Rs. 15 per month and free quarters.

There are now three motor ambulance waggons belonging to this Department, all of which have been presented to the Government and the Corporation.

Arrangements were made for these machines to be repaired when necessary in the Corporation workshops, but unfortunately considerable difficulty was experienced in keeping them in good running order. On many occasions one machine only has been on duty, therefore the number of calls in which delay has occurred has been considerable (amounting to no less than 202) owing to the machines on duty being engaged on other cases or under repair. It is, however, anticipated that better result will be obtained in the coming year.

The question of providing another motor ambulance and crew consisting of two drivers and four attendants require consideration, as the work of the Department is so rapidly increasing that the present machines and staff are frequently unable to cope with it.

The system of keeping one machine in reserve to permit overhauling and repairing the machine on duty has been found by experience to be necessary and even with this precaution, as before mentioned, often one machine only was immediately available for calls.

On 1st April 1918, it was decided to make charges for the use of the motor ambulances in certain cases, but that for accidents and persons requiring to be removed to the free wards of the hospitals, no charge is made. The schedule of charges will be seen in Appendix XXIII.

The Ambulance Department is financially maintained by Government and the Corporation of Calcutta, the former paying one-third and the latter two-thirds of the cost of the upkeep. Appendix XX gives financial statement for the year under review.

Ambulances are available at all hours for accidents and urgent cases necessitating removal to hospital. These machines are not to be used for infectious cases, but the provision of one or more motor ambulances for that class of work is now under consideration.

N.B.—Certain of the appendices referred to in the above report are not reprinted in the Gazette.

APPENDIX I

Statement showing receipts and expenditure of the Fire Brigade for 1917-18.

The year opened with a balance of Rs. 89,132-9-6 and the receipts amounted to Rs. 2,17,891-14-10 and the total expenditure to Rs. 2,09,299, leaving a balance of Rs. 97,725-8-4 at the close of the year.

RECEIPTS.

The receipts show an increase of Rs. 5,484-14-10 over the estimate. The sale proceeds of unserviceable stores amounted to Rs. 3,432-6-9 against Rs. 500 estimated. The credits on account of hire of engines, etc., in connection with calls outside the brigade jurisdiction amounted to Rs. 1,020. The fees under the Petroleum Act show an increase of Rs. 1,085 over the estimate.

EXPENDITURE.

Under head 'Establishments' there was a decrease of Rs. 10,391-1 due mainly to the non-debit of the Chief Officer's pay, owing to his being on deputation to Mesopotamia.

The total expenditure under head 'Contingencies' amounted to Rs. 1,17,722-8-8 against a budget grant of Rs. 1,90,952, showing a decrease of Rs. 73,229-7-4. The savings include Rs. 59,788 provided in the budget for the purchase of (i) a combined appliance including fire escape, first-aid cylinders and pumps, (ii) a motor fire engine and (iii) canvas hose which remained unexpended at the close of the year in consequence of the delay in their shipment from England owing to the war.

Under head 'Other charges' there was a decrease of Rs. 1,487-8-7 due mainly to less expenditure under head 'Water pressure'.

CENTRAL MUNICIPAL OFFICE:

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1918-19.

Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1913-17, the area under the Cotton Crops in Bengal has represented some 0.3 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.

There are two crops early and late. The early crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the State of Hill Tippera and to a small extent in Bankura and Midnapore districts. The late crop is unimportant and is mainly grown in Midnapore.

Character of the season.—The prospects are on the whole good. The report from the Chittagong Hill Tracts forecasts a good crop while that from Hill Tippera is fairly satisfactory.

Area sown.—The area sown with early cotton is reported to be 71,367 acres against 71,130 acres reported in the corresponding forecast of last year. This includes an area estimated at 1,000 acres in other districts which have started cotton cultivation this year on account of the high prices of cloth.

Of the late crop 700 acres are reported to have been sown up to date in Midnapore against the same figure in the corresponding forecast of last year.

DARJEELING, THE 16TH OCTOBER 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 1715T.R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Land Revenue Administration of the Presidency of Bengal for the year ending the 31st March 1918.

THE Hon'ble Mr. C. J. Stevenson-Moore, c.v.o., was in charge of the office of the Member of the Board of Revenue throughout the year.

2. General conditions of the year.—The outturn of crops was satisfactory ; but owing to the dislocation of trade due to the war prices of the staple crops, rice and jute, were low. The material condition of the cultivating classes and of the land-holders was not therefore satisfactory, while the high prices of imported articles, such as salt, sugar, kerosine oil, corrugated iron, and particularly of cloth, affected all classes of people, cultivators, labourers and persons with small fixed incomes suffering very severely. The coal mines in Asansol and the various mills and factories in Hooghly and Howrah had a very prosperous year and gave employment to a large number of labourers. The weaving of cotton cloth, the silk industry and the sugar making industry prospered on account of the dearth of imported articles ; but the brass and bell-metal industries and other industries which depend on foreign countries for raw materials were seriously hampered. A good impetus was given to the ship-building industry in Chittagong where several brigs and schooners were built during the year, the registered tonnage varying from 89 to 450 tons. Some damage was done to crops by the floods of the Ajay, Damodar and Silai in parts of Burdwan, Hooghly, Howrah and Midnapore districts, and by the floods of the Kuya and Mairakshi in Murshidabad district. A sum of Rs. 1,00,628 was advanced during the year under the Agriculturists' Loans Act and of Rs. 19,700 under the Land Improvement Loans Act.

3. Land Revenue demand and collections.—The current demand of the year amounted to Rs. 2,78,56,900, showing an increase of Rs. 69,898 over the previous year, due to new settlements, resettlements and progressive increase of demands in temporarily-settled and Government estates. The collections amounted to Rs. 2,72,97,443, being 91·96 per cent. of the total and 97·99 per cent. of the current demand against 93·77 and 99·85 per cent. of the previous year. The remission of revenue during the year amounted to Rs. 66,429.

4. Road and Public Works Cesses.—The current demand on account of Road and Public Works Cesses showed an increase of Rs. 1,12,422 over the previous year, due to valuation and revaluation proceedings. There was a falling off in the percentage of total collections on the current demand from 100·8 in 1916-17 to 97·7. Only 7 districts attained the standard of 100 per cent. collection against 13 districts in the previous year. Out of the 25 districts to which the Cess Act applies, valuations and revaluations, partial or complete, were made in 14 districts and were completed in 9. Revaluations conducted by the Settlement Department were in progress in Rajshahi and Noakhali, and revaluations in accordance with the ordinary procedure were in progress in the 24-Parganas, Midnapore and Bakarganj. The current demand of land-revenue for the cess-paying districts was Rs. 2,78,41,561, and the valuation or gross rental on which cesses are based amounted to Rs. 12,59,55,694. The land revenue is thus 22·1 per cent. of the rental.

5. Revenue and Cess money orders.—As compared with the previous year there was a slight increase in the number of money-orders for the remittance of land-revenue and cesses and in the amount covered by them, viz., 226,206 and Rs. 20,07,860, respectively, against 225,411 and Rs. 19,53,563 in 1916-17. The number of money-orders issued shows a considerable decrease from 297,491 in 1914-15, due to the introduction of the combined form for the payment of both revenue and cesses ; but the amount covered by the orders has been the largest this year since 1914-15.

6. Coercive measures.—The number of estates which defaulted and became liable to sale was 13,273 or over 2,200 more than in the previous year. Only 1,019 estates or 7·6 per cent. were actually sold against 981 estates in 1917-18. The largest numbers of defaults were in the districts of Chittagong, Midnapore and Dacca ; and the sales were proportionately most numerous in Dacca, Hooghly and Chittagong. The number of certificates filed, including those for cess, was 100,943 against 105,814 in the preceding year, and the number pending at the close of the year was 28,986 against 32,248 of 1916-17. In the majority of cases payments were made on the issue of notices or on attachment of property. Actual sale became necessary only in 5,915 cases or 5·6 per cent. of 105,109 cases disposed of during the year.

7. Government Estates.—The total number of estates under direct management, including those of private individuals managed by Government, was 2,359, with an annual demand of Rs. 43,55,696. Rs. 1,34,295 were spent on miscellaneous and sanitary improvements; and of this amount Rs. 66,575 were spent on drainage, embankment and irrigation alone. The expenditure on roads and communications was Rs. 3,07,620 of which Rs. 74,779 were given by Government and the balance was provided by District Board and other funds. There were 2,361 schools attended by 76,648 pupils in Government estates. The expenditure on education amounted to Rs. 81,219, and of this Government contributed Rs. 50,993 and the remainder was met by local grants.

8. Waste Lands.—The rules for the grant of waste lands leases to large capitalists in the 24-Parganas and Khulna portions of the Sundarbans continued in abeyance. Raiyatwari settlements on the lines of the Bakarganj Colonization Scheme are being made in certain Sundarbans lots in the 24-Parganas. The Colonization Scheme in the Bakarganj Sundarbans continues to thrive; in this area 476 colonists were settled on 23,141 bighas against 638 colonists on 24,805 bighas in 1916-17.

Arrangements were made for improving the educational facilities in the colonization areas and an initial expenditure of Rs. 2,500 for the construction of schools and teachers' quarters and a recurring grant of Rs. 2,004 on account of teachers' pay were sanctioned. No fees will be charged for the present; and vacations will be arranged to suit the local conditions and the requirements of parents during the sowing or harvesting seasons.

9. Drainage, Embankment, and Irrigation.—No new drainage or irrigation scheme of importance was undertaken during the year. The Public Works Department prepared a very extensive scheme for improving the drainage of the Contai Subdivision and steps are being taken for initiating two projects connected with this scheme, which are expected to drain 152 square miles. The Damodar reservoir survey is still under the consideration of Government. The repairs of embankments along the left bank of the Ajay which were badly damaged by the floods of 1916 and the question of repairing and maintaining the zamindari embankments in Birbhum are also under consideration. To improve the Gunti embankments in Tippera, which were breached by floods in 1915, it has been decided to take charge of that portion which falls within the estate of His Highness the Raja of Hill Tippera; and action is being taken under section 7(1) of the Bengal Embankment Act.

10. Partitions.—Forty-seven cases were instituted during the year and 278 cases were pending at the end of the previous year. Of these 40 cases were disposed of during the year and 285 cases were left pending.

11. Working of the Bengal Tenancy Act.—The relations between landlords and tenants were unsatisfactory in places. Ill-feeling, caused by enhancement of rent, illegal exactions and money-lending, was noticeable in several districts. Failure to give rent-receipts and levy of abwabs and illegal cesses in addition to rent continued to prevail throughout the Presidency. The extension of the record-of-rights in the Presidency has had a beneficial effect in restricting the levy of abwabs as it educates the cultivators to a recognition of their rights. As compared with the previous year there was a falling off in the number of rent money-orders and also in the amount covered by them. The percentage of money-orders refused by landlords to money-orders sent fell from 19.1 to 16.7. The law relating to the transferability of occupancy-holdings has been amended by Act II of 1918 to provide restrictions on alienation of land by aborigines. The Bill relating to the transferability of occupancy-holdings generally is still under consideration.

12. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the Board for its efficient administration of the Land Revenue Department.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. BIRLEY,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Second Forecast of the Sugarcane Crop of Bengal, 1918-19.

Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1916-17 the area under Sugarcane in Bengal has represented some 9·2 per cent. of the total area under Sugarcane in British India.

Character of the season.—The season which was favourable at the time of planting and during the early days of the crop finally turned out too wet. Growth has been generally retarded and a good deal of damage done by floods. Prospects have accordingly been seriously affected.

Area.—The area planted with the crop is returned at 219,300 acres as against 207,900 acres reported in the Second Forecast of last year.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of the District Officers, the provincial outturn works out to 81 per cent. of the normal as against 88 per cent. reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.

Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.

THE Governor in Council has had under consideration the recommendations of the Public Services Commission relating to the Police Service, as contained in annexure XVI to their report, and this resolution is published in order to give the public interested an opportunity of expressing their views on the more important questions involved. By way of concentrating attention on the considerations which may be adduced in connection with different issues, these are briefly set forth below.

2. In regard to the organization of the department, the Commission recommended that the present division of the service into imperial and provincial branches should be retained. This arrangement was accepted by most of the witnesses and was said to be working satisfactorily in practice. Mr. Abdur Rahim, however, in his minute of dissent preferred a division of the services into class I and class II, and proposed to include in the former the holders of superior appointments only and in the latter to group the holders of all the inferior appointments, whether recruited in England or in India. In other words, he desired to see the Assistant and Deputy Superintendents classed together. This desire was voiced by some of the provincial service officers who gave evidence before the Commission, and their claim has been taken up and pressed in other quarters. It appears to be based on a single phrase used in the orders passed on the report of the Police Commission of 1902-03, where it was stated that the functions and departmental status of Deputy Superintendents would be similar to those of Assistant Superintendents. The Police Commission were impressed by the advantages of recruiting the superior police service from Englishmen by open competition in England, and condemned both competition among nominated candidates in India and promotion from the subordinate ranks. On these bases, they developed the idea of a cadre of European Superintendents fed by European Assistant Superintendents recruited in England. They foresaw, however, two consequences of this change :—

- (i) there would not be enough Assistant Superintendents to provide all the superior assistance required by Superintendents ;
- (ii) Indians would be excluded from the superior ranks of the police.

To meet these difficulties, and with the precedent of the executive Provincial Civil Service before them, the Commission proposed the creation of the Provincial Police Services. They did not contemplate literal and absolute equality between junior officers of the imperial service and provincial service officers. The provincial service were to be a class of officers recruited for assistants' (not Superintendents') work ; fifty per cent. of them were to be promoted inspectors and only selected officers were to be promoted to the rank of Superintendent. No claim of complete equality can be admitted on the basis of this report therefore, when the objects of constituting the services were diverse, when the prospects of the provincial service officers and those of Assistant Superintendents were defined in entirely different terms, and when most of the provincial service men were to find a career within the bounds of the service itself. It is now necessary to consider the question of the admission of Indians into the imperial service, but this does not affect the necessity for the retention of a provincial service. If Indians are recruited for the imperial service, the division between the two services will, however, be based on the nature of the work to be done and not on a racial distinction.

3. The imperial branch of the police service is at present recruited from three sources :—

- (1) The great majority of officers are appointed on the results of a competitive examination held annually in London. Every candidate has to be over 19 and under 21 years of age, and must be a British subject of European descent whose father was at the time of the candidate's birth a British subject.
- (2) Not more than 5 per cent. of the cadre is recruited by promotion from the provincial service.
- (3) The Government of India have power to nominate a certain number of candidates without examination from the domiciled European community ; such nominations are limited to one for each province annually. This method of appointment has been rarely exercised in recent years.

The recommendations of the Commission were—

- (i) That the annual competitive examination should no longer be restricted to persons of European descent, but should be open to natives of India who have been educated in the United Kingdom for a period of five years prior to the examination. In other respects the Commission considered the present regulations suitable.
- (ii) That the Government of India should make a more liberal use of its power to nominate candidates, and that this power should be extended so as to admit of the nomination of natives of India.
- (iii) That the percentage of officers promoted from the provincial service should be raised first to 10 per cent. and ultimately to 20 per cent. of the whole service.

The Commission considered that the imperial police service was one of the services in the higher ranks of which the nature of British responsibility for the good governance of India required the employment of a preponderating proportion of British officers, and they were satisfied with the personnel which the existing examination supplies. They were, therefore, in favour of retaining the competitive examination as the main channel of recruitment. At the same time, they recognised that the regulations worked hardly in the case of persons of mixed descent resident in Great Britain and were unpopular with Indians. They, therefore, proposed the modification of the regulations so as to permit Europeans of mixed descent and Indians of pure Asiatic descent to compete, provided they had been educated in the United Kingdom for a period of five years prior to the examination. But realising that this in itself might not result in any substantial increase in the proportion of Indians in the service, they recommended in addition increased recruitment in India.

4. The method of recruitment for the imperial police service has come under consideration at intervals during the last thirty years, and the view has prevailed that the European element should predominate in the higher ranks of the service. It is now, however, necessary to review the position in the light of present day conditions and, in particular, of the recommendations made in paragraphs 313 to 317 of the report on Constitutional Reforms. The racial discrimination which at present exists in the regulations of the competitive examination would to a great extent be removed if the recommendations of the Public Services Commission were adopted, but the proposal that the competitive test should be open only to such Indians as have been educated in the United Kingdom for five years prior to the examination would still retain an element of discrimination against the Indian. Even if, as has been suggested, the period were reduced to two years, the proposal would still be objectionable in principle. It has therefore been suggested that the Commission's recommendation should be adopted without such qualification, and that the examination should be thrown open to Europeans of British descent, Indians and Anglo-Indians on absolutely equal terms.

5. In paragraph 316 of their report His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State have recommended that in the case of all public services for which there is recruitment in England open to Europeans and Indians alike, a definite percentage of recruitment should be made in India. The Public Services Commission, on the assumption that the admission of Indians to the competitive examination in England would probably be restricted by insistence on the five years' residential qualification referred to, proposed that recruitment for the imperial service in India should be both direct and by promotion from the provincial service. If, however, Indians are admitted to the examination in England on equal terms with Europeans of British descent, it seems doubtful whether direct recruitment in India is necessary or desirable. As it is, young men of good educational and social qualifications come forward for the provincial police service in numbers largely exceeding the vacancies available, and there would seem to be no advantage in putting a small proportion of these direct into the imperial service. So far as initial qualifications go, there would be little, if any, difference between candidates appointed direct to the imperial service as assistant superintendents and those appointed to the provincial service as deputy superintendents, and the latter would naturally regard the former with some feelings of jealousy and resentment. If, therefore, Indians are admitted to the competitive examination in England without restriction, it would seem best to recruit for the imperial service in India solely by promotion from the provincial service.

6. In that case, it only remains to consider what proportion of superintendentships should be reserved for members of the provincial service, and it is not easy to fix a proportion while the effect of throwing open to Indians the competitive examination in England is still an unknown quantity. If it were found that Indians were entering the service in large numbers by the competitive test in England, it might be necessary to reduce the percentage of recruitment in India, but such action would inevitably cause dissatisfaction to the provincial service. The existing proportion of superintendents' posts open to the provincial service is 5 per cent., and it would seem best to increase the percentage cautiously and gradually, in order to afford time in which to test the effect of the contemplated changes on the administration.

7. The mode of making appointments in India is a matter of great importance. So far as officers promoted from the provincial service are concerned, appointments must be by nomination. But if it is decided to make direct appointments in addition, there is the choice between examination, nomination, and a combination of examination and nomination. The Commission recommended a system of nomination. Mr. Chaubal in his minute of dissent advocated an extension of the competitive system wherever possible. Mr. Abdur Rahim did not contemplate a system of direct appointment to the superior service, but for the Indian recruitment to his class II, from which class I of the service was to be recruited, he recommended the utilization of selection committees. It has at times been suggested that the whole service should be recruited by simultaneous examinations in England and in India, but the objections which apply to simultaneous examinations in the case of the Indian Civil Service apply with much greater force in that of the police. The question of the methods to be adopted for the recruitment of the public services in India is a general one, and as such will come under consideration separately, but, as at present advised, the Local Government are inclined to favour a combination of examination and nomination, coupled with adequate safeguards for securing a due representation of the various communities in the public services. In any case, a system of pure competition is scarcely suitable for the police service in existing conditions.

8. There is reason to believe that in regard to the pay of the imperial police service the Public Services Commission purposely confined themselves to the removal of minor anomalies and defects on account of the short time which had elapsed since the reorganization of the service in 1905. Through increased lapse of time this reason is now less cogent. Further, conditions have so altered since 1915, that it is extremely doubtful whether the rates of pay proposed by the Commission will be adequate to attract the right type of recruit in future. The Commission's proposals have been received with disappointment and dissatisfaction by the officers of the imperial service, and His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State, in paragraph 319 of their report, have recognised the need for improving the conditions of the European services generally if they are to continue to attract the type of men required. It is not proposed at this stage to examine in detail the Commission's proposals in the matter of pay, but it is necessary to give some indication of the manner in which the passage of time and recent political developments have affected the position. First, it has been urged with some reason that the position of the officers in the upper grades of Superintendent of Police has become one of considerable hardship. In the early years of his service, it is said, a police officer is well off as compared with officers of equal age in other services. But among officers of from thirteen years' service and upwards there is stagnation and some penury, with the natural consequence of discouragement, loss of keenness and deterioration. If this is a true picture, then the Commission's proposals would do little to bring relief where it is most required. They have been criticised especially on two grounds: (1) that a compartment system will maintain blocks in promotion, (2) that the proposed scale is inadequate. The substitution of an incremental for a graded system of pay is a move in the right direction, but there would appear to be grave defects in an incremental system divided into compartments, unless there is a definite provision to meet the case of officers whose promotion is blocked through no fault of their own, and who find themselves still in an inferior appointment long after the period of service at which they had a right to expect promotion to the higher grade. The Commission have not examined this point, but His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State have dealt with it in paragraph 319 of their report, and have suggested a method by which the difficulty might be overcome. They suggest, and the remarks appear to have particular force in respect of the police service, that (1) the junior scale should be continued until a senior post is actually obtained, and (2) that the higher responsibility of the senior post should be marked by the grant of an additional allowance over and above the time scale. The same result can be obtained by separate but overlapping scales so designed that the difference between the junior and senior scales would be a constant figure. The figures given below, which, however, are used purely for the purpose of illustration, indicate how the proposal would work in practice:—

Year of service.	Junior scale.	Senior scale.	Year of service.	Junior scale.	Senior scale.
1	300	...	12	600	750
2	350	...	13	650	800
3	400	...	14	700	850
4	400	...	15	750	900
5	450	600	16	800	950
6	450	600	17	...	1,000
7	500	650	18	...	1,050
8	500	650	19	...	1,100
9	550	700	20	...	1,150
10	550	700	21	...	1,200
11	600	750	22	...	1,250

In this scale what His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State have termed an allowance to mark the higher responsibility of the senior post would be the difference of Rs. 150 between the junior and senior scales in any year in which they overlapped; and in the case of an officer who had not been confirmed in a superior appointment this amount would be regarded technically as an acting allowance. Such a system would be very simple in practice. It would require only the simple rules that (1) an officer holding an inferior appointment would draw pay according to the junior scale and an officer holding a superior appointment according to the senior scale; and (2) an officer holding an inferior appointment who had not been declared fit to hold a superior appointment would not draw more than a fixed amount, say Rs. 600. It would equalise, so far as this is possible, the prospects of officers in different provinces and at different times, and it ensures that an officer will never lose more than Rs. 150 per mensem owing to slowness of promotion and that, when this promotion does come, he is restored to the pay which he would have attained had promotion been normal. An arrangement on these lines would prima facie seem to have advantages over the Commission's scale.

9. The inadequacy of the scales proposed by the Commission has been the subject of comment, and the following alternative proposals have been received :—

(i) It has been suggested that (a) ordinary promotion, on an incremental scale, should go up to Rs. 1,200, (b) there should be a minimum pay of Rs. 1,000 for the two or three charges in each province in which work is most responsible and the cost of living highest, (c) there should be a selection grade on an incremental scale from Rs. 1,300 to 1,500.

(ii) In another case the following scale has been suggested :—

Rs. 300—40—700 (in the eleventh year)—50—1,250 (in the twenty-second year), with a selection grade on Rs. 1,400. This scale is based on the scales of the Imperial Forest Service and Public Works Department, retarded by two years on account of the difference of age on entry, and assumes that an officer has a right to expect to hold a superior appointment from his ninth year and will usually act for two years before he is confirmed.

(iii) The third scale put forward is Rs. 300—50—1,500, with no selection grade.

These suggestions raise two questions, the first of which is whether a few of the most responsible and most expensive charges should carry with them a minimum pay of Rs. 1,000 per mensem. The reason for this proposal is that a junior officer, who has been specially selected for a difficult post, should not be penalised thereby and driven into debt at an early stage of his career. The present system is to compensate officers posted to the more expensive stations by special allowances. The amount of the allowance so given would not ordinarily bring the pay of a junior officer up to Rs. 1,000, but it is for consideration whether the system of allowances apart from the question of their adequacy is not more suitable than that of a minimum pay. The former certainly has this advantage in that it benefits officers of whatever period of service and not only those in the junior ranks. Secondly, there is some difference of opinion as to the desirability of retaining the selection grade. The comparative lack of higher posts in the police service is an argument for the retention of such a grade, but against this has to be considered the further fact that there is a tendency for these grades to become the last stage in the official career of mediocre officers who are passed over for higher posts.

10. The Commission have proposed that Deputy Inspectors-General should be placed on an incremental scale of Rs. 1,500—100—2,000 per month. Other suggestions received have been: (i) that the scale should be Rs. 1,800—100—2,000 or even Rs. 1,800—100—2,200, and (ii) that the graded system should be retained, but that the pay of the grades should be raised from Rs. 1,500 and Rs. 1,800 to Rs. 1,600, Rs. 1,700, Rs. 1,800 and Rs. 2,000.

11. In paragraph 322 of their report, His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State have suggested as a general principle that the standard scales of pay of the services generally should be fixed with reference to Indians recruited in India at rates sufficient to attract the best men available and to give them an income appropriate to their position, while persons recruited by reason of superior qualifications in Europe should be given an extra allowance to compensate them for the drawbacks and expenses of expatriation. The Public Services Commission on the other hand recommended that the salaries of Europeans and statutory natives of India should be settled for each service separately and ordinarily in accordance with the principle that Government should pay so much and so much only as is necessary to obtain recruits of the right stamp and to maintain them in such a degree of comfort as will shield them from temptation and keep them efficient, and not on any consideration of race or place of recruitment. In regard to the imperial Police Service, the Commission considered that all officers of that service, European and Indian, whether recruited in England or in India, should be paid at the same rates. The reasons for making this exception have been detailed in paragraph 56 of the Commission's report. The point for consideration is whether the system proposed by His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State is suitable to the circumstances of the imperial Police Service, or whether for the reasons urged by the Public Services Commission all officers of that service wherever recruited should be remunerated at the same rates.

12. As regards the recommendations of the Commission concerning the provincial service, it is considered that the rules regulating recruitment for this service are generally suitable and that no radical reorganization is called for, though certain minor changes might be adopted. The educational qualifications prescribed for candidates for direct appointment to this service are already high, and no change is called for in this respect. The best method of making direct appointments is a more difficult question, which may be considered with reference to the remarks in paragraph 7 of this resolution. The existing practice followed in Bengal of making half the appointments to the provincial service by the promotion of inspectors was apparently approved by the Commission, and no change is contemplated in this respect. Following their general principles, the Commission have proposed the substitution of an incremental for a graded system of pay, and the point for consideration here is whether the scale of pay proposed is suitable.

13. The other matters dealt with in the Commission's report, so far as the Police Service is concerned, are of minor importance, and His Excellency in Council does not propose to invite opinion specifically on them. As the Government of India desire to be placed in possession of the views of the Local Government at as early a date as possible, it is requested that any remarks or criticisms, which any person or body of persons interested may desire to offer, may be forwarded to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal not later than the 30th November 1918.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL,

DARJEELING, THE 28TH OCTOBER 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 1908T.R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Administration of Wards', Attached and Trust estates in the Presidency of Bengal for the Bengali year 1324 (1917-18).

Number of estates under management.—The Court of Wards took charge of eight new estates during the year and one estate was released. There were thus 62 estates under the management of the Court of Wards at the end of the year, against 55 estates in the preceding year.

2. Payment of revenue and cesses.—The total amount of revenue and cesses due to Government, including arrears, was Rs. 14,02,282. Payments amounted to Rs. 13,04,086 or 92·9 per cent., against 93·0 per cent. in the preceding year. As in the previous year, the heaviest balance was due by the Tagore estate.

3. Rent and cesses due to superior landlords.—The percentage of payment of rent and cesses to superior landlords showed a slight improvement, being 84·8 per cent. of the amount due, against 83·2 per cent. in the previous year, leaving a balance of Rs. 86,586 out of a total demand of Rs. 5,73,516. This was due mainly to disputes regarding title and interests of superior landlords and non-adjustment of accounts and to accumulation of petty dues allowed by superior landlords.

4. Collection of rents and cesses.—The percentage of collection on current demand fell from 110·7 in the previous year to 98·4. The standard of 100 per cent. collection on current demand was exceeded in twenty estates. The deficit in the remaining estates was due to the straitened circumstances of the tenantry in consequence of the high prices of most of the necessities of life and the abnormally low prices of jute and paddy. The outstanding balance due to all the estates aggregated over 59 lakhs, representing 141·5 per cent. on the current demand against 138·8 per cent. in the previous year. The balance exceeded the current demand in all divisions except Rajshahi.

As compared with the preceding year the number of civil suits filed during the year for the recovery of rent and cesses due to Wards' estates decreased by 797; but the number of certificates showed an increase of 6,001. Out of 3,945 civil suits for disposal, 3,064 cases were disposed of during the year, but only a little more than one-third of the decretal amount was recovered. Of 29,704 certificates for disposal, only 19,591 were disposed of; and 63·6 per cent. of the total claim was realised against 66·8 per cent. in the previous year.

5. Debts of estates.—The total liabilities of the estates under the management of the Court of Wards stood at nearly 82 lakhs at the end of the year, and of this amount eleven estates were responsible for nearly 78 lakhs. The decree obtained in the foreclosure suit by the mortgagees of the Tagore estate became absolute, but the proclamation for the sale of the properties has not yet been published. The debts of this estate are more than 21 lakhs.

The special officer appointed to allocate the debts between the proprietors of the Bhawal Wards' estate has submitted his report, and it is now under the consideration of the Board of Revenue. The Nurullapur property of the late Nawab Sir Salimulla was sold, and the entire sale-proceeds were expended in part payment of the debt due to Government.

6. Cost of management and expenditure on improvements.—The percentage of cost of management on the current rent and cess demand of estates for the whole Presidency was 13·2 against 13·0 in the previous year. The percentage of the cost of management of the Basudebpur Wards' estate in Midnapore has risen from 3·6 to 14·1, and the local officers have been asked to explain the reason for this high increase. The high percentage (26·0) of the management cost in the Karatiya estate is attributed, as in the previous year, to the fact that a very large amount was paid to the patwaris of the estate on account of arrear commissions on adjustment of their accounts. The total expenditure on improvements, schools and dispensaries was Rs. 1,70,496 or 4·07 per cent. of the current demand. In accordance with the instructions issued by the Board in 1916 agricultural demonstrations in Wards' estates are now generally carried on under the supervision of officers of the Agricultural Department. The report shows satisfactory evidence of increased interest in agricultural improvement.

7. Education of wards.—The education of the wards received due attention and the result was generally satisfactory. During the year under report a minor son of the eldest male ward of the Bhukailash estate No. I received some training in survey and settlement work under the Settlement Officer of Tippera and Noakhali.

8. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the Board of Revenue for its efficient administration of the estates under the Court of Wards. Miss Cornelia Sorabji, Lady Adviser to the Court of Wards, has done much useful work in giving the ladies of the zenanas of the Wards' estates the benefit of her advice in various matters, particularly with regard to the health, comfort and the education of these ladies and of minor wards. The good work of the managers mentioned in the report will be noted.

COTTON CULTIVATION IN BENGAL.GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.*REVENUE DEPARTMENT.*Agriculture Branch.

No. 8020Agri.

Dated Calcutta, the 28th October 1918.

IN view of the interest which has been taken recently in the subject of cotton cultivation in Bengal and of the resolution which was passed in this connection at the meeting of the Bengal Legislative Council held at Dacca on the 19th August 1918, a report on the subject by the Director of Agriculture is published for general information. The report indicates the measures which are being taken and the difficulties of growing cotton in Bengal. The Governor in Council has decided to depute Mr. N. N. Pillai, Weaving Expert to the Government of Bengal, to hold an enquiry as regards the number of charkas in use, their requirements in the way of raw cotton, and how these requirements can be met.

L. BIRLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT.

The question of cotton-growing in Bengal formed one of the subjects of discussion at the summer meeting of the Provincial Agricultural Association held in Calcutta on July 4th. The inclusion of this subject was due to the suggestion of the Director of Agriculture as the question was attracting some attention amongst the educated section of the rural community and as indents for considerable quantities of cotton seed had been received and were being supplied by the Agricultural Department. The question is by no means a new one to the Agricultural Department as any marked rise in price of cotton goods is generally accompanied by a demand for the supply of cotton seed. The cloth situation on this occasion, however, was much more acute, and with little apparent likelihood of an early return to normal condition it was considered desirable to see whether anything could be done by local efforts.

2. The subject was discussed at some length by the meeting which consisted largely of unofficial representatives from District Agricultural Associations and District Boards. The general conclusion arrived at was that, although cotton was not to be recommended as a field crop in the plains of Bengal, and although the general situation as regards the price of raw cotton or manufactured cotton goods could not be affected by any possible extension of cotton-growing in the Presidency, yet as a special war time measure and in view of the efforts which were being made to reintroduce home-spinning in certain localities owing to the high price and scarcity of cotton goods, a local supply of raw cotton might be organised through the growing of cotton plants amongst other crops on small areas on the higher homestead lands near village sites. Cotton-growing would thus be a subsidiary industry to home-spinning, and its extension would depend largely on the extent to which local efforts to revive the charka proved successful.

3. The following measures were recommended:—

In the first place, the extension of the growth of the various types of tree cotton (Gossypium arboreum) commonly found in many districts. It was recognized that this was a matter for local effort, no funds being necessary as the seed of the tree cotton would be available locally at the beginning of the cold weather season.

In the second place, it was considered desirable to supply cotton seed of superior field types in small quantities to growers.

The action of the department in insisting on early indents for next year's seed supply was approved of, and it was recommended that Government should be asked to make a free distribution of seed in small quantities.

It was explained to the meeting that a collection of cotton varieties had been made and that these were being grown at the Dacca Agricultural Station and that recommendations would be made after the crop had ripened as to the proper types of cotton to grow. The meeting also recommended the appointment of an agricultural officer to each of the remaining districts.

4. On the recommendation of the meeting Government has agreed as a special war time measure to financing a free distribution of cotton seed, provided the distribution is extensive and in small quantities, in order to supply a nucleus seed supply, and has sanctioned the appointment of five additional District Agricultural Officers from December 1st.

5. In order to understand the exact situation, the following considerations require to be borne in mind:—

No part of Bengal is suited for cotton-growing; much the greater part of it is absolutely unsuitable, and the crop is confined to a comparatively small and highly specialized area on the eastern borders of the Presidency.

The main reasons for this are as follows:—

The cotton plant, in a productive sense (not in a vegetative sense), is particularly sensitive to environment, and unless suitable conditions prevail, the yield tends to sink so low as to make the crop unprofitable.

These conditions are:—

- (a) Plenty of moisture at sowing time.
- (b) Enough but not too much moisture in its early stages.
- (c) Dry conditions up till flowering time and plenty of moisture thereafter.
- (d) Sunny weather throughout its growth.
- (e) Absence of water-logging, which is fatal to the crop.

It is thus evident that the ideal conditions for the crop consist in a dry climate with control of the water-supply. The situation and climate of North-east India present a strange contrast to these conditions. It will be seen that the last mentioned of these, viz., the water-logging of the soil, obviously rules out the greater part of Bengal for cotton as a field crop, while the absence of the factors (a) and (b) would render it risky even in the higher lands of the Western districts. The presence of the factors (a), (b) and (e) renders it possible to grow cotton in the Eastern Hill Tracts, while the almost universal absence of factors (c) and (d) in Bengal tends to reduce the yield to such an extent as to make it unprofitable except in places where there are no competing revenue crops.

It is known that cotton (of an inferior type certainly, but still cotton) is grown in Hill Tippera and in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, but is found nowhere in the plains of Bengal except in very scattered fields in the west of Midnapore and Bankura districts. On the other hand, it would be possible to grow cotton on the higher homestead lands throughout the Presidency which are free from water-logging, but again on account of the presence of factors (c) and (d) a satisfactory yield is not to be expected. The Provincial Agricultural Association, it will be noted, recommended that the crop should be grown on small areas only, and that, where possible, the plants should be mixed with other crops to form a mixed crop. This procedure was advocated in order to minimise loss on account of the uncertainty of the crop giving a reasonable outturn.

6. From the above it is clear that the meeting thoroughly understood the position with regard to the possibilities of cotton-growing in the plains of Bengal and that their conclusions were based on a sound conception of the situation. It was considered that an increase of the area of the cotton in the hill tracts would have no effect on the general situation, as the quality of lint obtainable from these places was not likely to be satisfactory for home-spinning.

7. It is worthy of mention that the experience of those who have tried cotton-growing in the plains this year, confirms absolutely the premises on which the meeting founded their resolutions. In Eastern Bengal, growers have had little success owing to the wet season, while on the higher lands in Western Bengal which had a comparatively light rainfall in July, the plants have done much better where grown under the proper conditions. As a matter of fact, the main principles regarding cotton-growing have been carefully studied for many years in America, Egypt and in India, and are well known.

8. The next point is the question of the reintroduction of the charka as a temporary measure in times of high prices, and the connection between it and a local supply of cotton. There was considerable difference of opinion at the meeting regarding the prospects of a revival of charka spinning. It was generally realized that this would involve great difficulties and that success was at least doubtful. The meeting was, however, unanimous in its desire to assist any local effort to improve the cloth situation and considered that it was worth while organizing a locally grown supply of cotton to meet any demand for lint on the part of spinners. This matter was not so fully discussed as that of cotton-growing itself, but the main intention of the meeting was plainly to give an opportunity to those in possession of land, of growing and spinning their own cotton, having their yarn made into cloth by the local weaver. The Director of Agriculture considers that this view is eminently sound, provided the grower is prepared to wear home-spun cotton cloth. A great deal, everything in fact, depends on this.

9. The practical outcome of the discussion was therefore that, as no local supply of the seed of field cotton of the proper varieties for home-spinning was available in Bengal, seed of these varieties would have to be imported, and that this should be distributed in small quantities to those prepared to utilize the produce for home-spinning. The extension of the growing of tree cotton was, as stated above, also recommended. The findings of the meeting have been accepted by the Agricultural Department.

10. The meeting tentatively suggested that a spring crop of cotton might be attempted this year. It was explained that for this purpose desi varieties would be necessary and that the quality of the lint obtainable would not be suitable for home-spinning. The opinion of many of the delegates present was, however, that the question was of such urgency that a cold weather crop should be tried, as it had not then been demonstrated that desi lint was unsuitable for the charka. Arrangements were accordingly made for a supply of seed from the ginning factories, but subsequent experience at Mymensingh with the Garo Hill cotton has compelled the Director of Agriculture to cancel the distribution after the seed had been brought.

The department has accepted the suggestion of the meeting regarding tree cotton varieties and is making arrangements to assist in the distribution of all available seed when the time comes. Last year's seed of these varieties has proved disappointing, presenting great difficulties in germination. As a matter of fact cotton seed appears to deteriorate rapidly in Bengal and old seed is of little use.

11. As mentioned at the meeting, the study of varieties had been taken up by the Botanical section at Dacca in anticipation of events, and a collection of field varieties, both desi and acclimatized American, also of tree cottons, has been grown this year with the object of assisting in the selection of those best suited to Bengal conditions. It will, of course, be understood that there is no possibility, by intervarietal selection or crossing, of arriving at an improved type or even a type more suited to the climate during the present crisis. Work of this nature takes many years to bear fruit and results cannot be improvised. The present work is mainly directed towards obtaining the more immediate information regarding the varieties already in existence. This information will, as mentioned above, be of considerable assistance in choosing the varieties for next year's sowings. It is, however, intended, as a matter of course, to continue the work already begun, until definite results have been obtained, more especially regarding the qualities of the different varieties of tree cotton.

12. From the above it will be clear that the policy of the Agricultural Department with regard to cotton-growing aims at assisting any possible development of charka spinning. It must, however, be remembered that even in the most favourable circumstances, there will be no results until the cold weather of 1919-20 and that little locally-grown cotton will be available till then. The question of obtaining a supply of lint for local charkas is therefore of more immediate importance than that of the seed supply, which can only bear fruit a year hence. This matter is receiving the attention of the Weaving Expert.

13. As regards the question of a general revival of the charaka as an emergency measure, prospects which were always doubtful are now by no means bright. There is little doubt that the movement originally owed a great deal of its strength, not only to the prevailing high prices of cloth, but also to the disappointment on the part of the jute-growing cultivators with the low prices of jute. The recovery of the raw jute market in July has altered the situation materially, and so far as can be gathered, has had the effect of turning the attention of the raiyats, in the jute-growing districts, away from growing their own cotton. Further, the improved military situation carrying with it prospects of an earlier restoration of normal conditions will, doubtless, have its effect on the movement. The Director of Agriculture, therefore, anticipates a further falling off in the interest shown in cotton-growing. Nevertheless, as there appears to be little prospect of cheap cloth for some time to come, it is proposed to carry out the policy previously settled on.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 24th October 1918.

Summary.—The week was rainless. Rain is urgently needed for winter rice, the prospects of which have been affected by prolonged drought since the middle of September. Preparation of lands for spring crops is also being impeded owing to the insufficiency of moisture in the soil. Sowing of rabi cereals and pulses has commenced at places. The average price of common rice has risen by about 2·1 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.
